Logan Elm Needs Levy, Bond Issue To Meet Rising Costs

"Good eudcation is essential not only to achieve the nation's political, moral and economic objectives, but for 'survival'," stated Alfred Gabriel, superintendent of the Pickaway Twp. school, today.

Speaking in regards to the Logan Elm School District's bond issue and tax levy, he said that the nation's need for good education is immediate, and good education costs money.

Educational costs have increased just as our food, clothing and automobile costs have increased. Fortunately, public education is one expenditure which produces tremendous dividends to the public and to our economy.

The United States Census Bureau estimates that the lifetime income of a high school graduate will average $107,000 more than that of a person without a formal education.

• • •

THE COST of operating schools in Ohio is met from real estate, public utility, personal property and state tax sources under the School Foundation Program.

Property is assessed for tax purposes in Ohio at one-half of the market value or less. To secure money for schools beyond 10 mills, it is necessary, under the Ohio Constitution, to secure voter approval.

Operating levies are for not more than five years. These levies must be re-submitted upon expiration to the voters if they are to be continued.

The amount of local school taxes in a district will depend upon its property wealth, its rate of population growth and the quality of education desired by its citizens.

Tuesday, the Logan Elm Board of Education is asking the voters to renew and thus continue an operating levy of 2-mills, and is asking for an additional operating levy of 3-mills.

These operating levies will be used for books, supplies, maintenance and repairs, light, fuel, transportation, salaries, insurance, cafeteria, special services and special instruction.

Light bulbs, $0.22 in 1953, $0.23 each now; coal—contract 200 ton price, $12.50 in 1953, $13 a ton now; average salaries, $2,824, $3,753, $4,283

Gabriel stated, "Remember, your vote has a direct influence upon your schools."

Crash Injuries Suffered Here Prove Fatal

Harry L. Dunlap, 59, Pt. Pleasant, W. Va., seriously injured in a two-car crash on Route 22 and 104 on October 19, died yesterday in a Gallipolis hospital.

The death marked Pickaway County's fifth traffic fatality for 1958. Three of the tragedes have come this month. At this time last year, four traffic deaths had been recorded here.

5 DEAD IN 1958

Dunlap was treated at Berger Hospital for several days prior to being transferred to the Gallipolis hospital. He suffered internal injuries and head lacerations.

The victim was a passenger in a car driven by Eunice L. Rollins, 33, Pt. Pleasant, W. Va. Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover said Rollins passed a stop sign, crashing into an auto driven by Larry Tooney, 24, of 719 S. Court St.

SEVEN other passengers in the Rollins car were injured, none fatally. Edward Buckingham, Lockbourne Air Force Base, a passenger in Tooney's car, was slightly injured.

Deputy Hoover said charges will be filed against Rollins.

Christmas Party Is Early for Girl

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — There was a Christmas party at a hospital here Tuesday, but no one except the guest of honor enjoyed it very much.

About two dozen friends, relatives and nurses crowded into the room of Eva Munoz, 13. They gave her presents, decorated a Christmas tree and ate ice cream and cake.

Eva was happy, but a little suspicious. She was tired when the guests had left. Her parents sat quietly during the party.

Doctors say the dark-eyed eighth-grader will never see the real holiday.

She has cancer.

12 Trapped Miners Alive

Bulletin

SPRINGHILL, N. S. (AP) — Twelve men have been found alive on the 13,000-foot level of No. 2 colliery here. A mine official said "there may be more."

The men had been trapped since Thursday night.

Rescue crews said they talked to the trapped men through a six-inch pipe.

A total of 70 miners still are in the depths of the mine. At least 23 are known to have been killed when a massive heave of the earth sent rock and coal tumbling into tunnels.

A total of 174 men were in the mie when disaster struck.

13 Men Killed In Mine Blast

West Virginia Mishap Is Second in 2 Days

SUMMERSVILLE, W.Va. (AP) —Thirteen miners, including two top supervisory employes, lost their lives Tuesday in a second straight coal mining disaster. Four others escaped after being trapped underground.

Only the day before, 22 men were killed in an explosion at the Bishop, Va., mine of the Pocahontas Fuel Co. on the Virginia-West Virginia border.

Tuesday's blast centered a mile and a half deep in the Burton mine of the Oglebay-Norton Co., a Cleveland-based mining, marketing, ore and shipping concern between here and Richwood.

Fifty-four men were at work underground, but 37 were working on the surface-side of the explosion and scurried to safety without injury.

The Burton operation is a slope mine, bored into the side of Curtin Mountain.

Ike Schedules Political Talk On TV Friday

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, back from a three-state campaign tour, will close his drive for election of a Republican Congress with a nationwide television-radio address from Baltimore Friday night.

The President returned to the capital by plane early today after a day and half of tub-thumping for votes in West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York.

The Baltimore address will climax what generally is regarded as the hardest hitting campaign of Eisenhower's political career.

However, he pitched his politicking on a less harsh note in New York Tuesday. He spoke at two rallies of party workers and urged election of Nelson A. Rockefeller as governor and Rep. Kenneth B. Keating to the U.S. Senate.

Rockefeller joined Keating in telling enthusiastic audiences of GOP workers that they as the ticket leaders were happy Eisenhower came to New York — and that his visit had helped them.

There had been talk that Rockefeller, a former foreign policy aide to Eisenhower, was something less than happy about having the President campaigning in the state.

Rockefeller a few days ago took what seemed to amount to a dim view of Eisenhower's new campaign technique — his attacks on the Democrats as left-wing radicals, as reckless spendthrifts, and as promoters of inflation-breeding schemes.

Shortly after the President's arrival in Manhattan, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty sought to scuttle talk of any discord.

Hagerty tagged as completely false reports that the GOP state organization — and Rockefeller specifically — had urged against Eisenhower's making any major political speech in New York. The press secretary said the Republican National Committee had decided that the President's top campaign address in the East should be in Pittsburgh, where he spoke Monday evening, in his home state of Pennsylvania.

Ohio Idle Pay List Declining

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Reductions of both new and continuing claims for unemployment compensation for the week ended Oct. 25 were reported today.

The Bureau of Unemployment Compensation said there were 13,024 new claims filed in the week compared with 13,701 for the week ended Oct. 18. Continuing claims on file totaled 89,252 compared with 92,009 for the week ended Oct. 18.

Average of new claims filed weekly in October of 1957 was 11,770. Average of continuing claims in that period was 53,029.

New claims for extended benefits, available to workers after regular benefits are exhausted, totaled 3,873 for the week ended Oct. 25. Continuing claims under these extended benefits totaled 46,055.

New Pope Urges Rulers of World To Beat Swords into Plowshares

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII broadcast an appeal to all rulers of the world today to work for peace. His call was in the tradition of his predecessor Pope Pius XII.

The new sovereign pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church, broadcasting from the Sistine Chapel less than 20 hours after his election, urged that weapons of destruction be converted into tools of progress.

His swords-into-plowshares appeal was taken as a firm sign that he intends to continue the fight for peace which made Pius XII known as the "Pope of Peace."

Pope John — Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli, patriarch of Venice, until his election Tuesday by the College of Cardinals — prayed to God for strength and courage in his new tasks. He called especially upon the Virgin Mary for assistance.

The 76-year-old Pope spoke in Latin for 20 minutes in a firm and powerful voice. Before the address, he received the homage of the 51 cardinals gathered in the chapel.

He asked God's help for those in countries where there is no religious freedom—an indirect reference to Communist-ruled nations —and for all who suffer. He told those who "have in their hands the fate of the peoples" that peace comes from the interior soul and cannot be imposed.

His quickness in going before the radio to give his thoughts to the world was taken as a sign that he intends his reign to be a dynamic one. Radio was one of the means frequently used by his predecessor to give his messages to the world and to try to reach the peoples of Soviet Russia, Red China and other Communist-dominated lands.

The new Pope is expected to be crowned within two weeks.

The jeweled, three-tiered tiara of the papacy, topped by golden orb and cross, perhaps will be placed upon his head Sunday, Nov. 9, in the climax at St. Peter's Basilica of the drama that began with the fatal illness of Pope Pius at Castel Gandolfo.

Vatican authorities prepared today for the coronation, the most colorful ceremony of the Roman Catholic Church, while messages of congratulation and best wishes poured in from chiefs of state and government heads of many nations.

After his broadcast, Pope John ordered the reopening of the doors of the conclave area, where 51 princes of the church had gone through the three tense days of balloting that finally led to his selection.

Bells of St. Peter's and of Rome's 500 churches pealed.

A brilliant sun shone over the Italian capital, which was in a festive mood. Throughout the city the posters announcing the death and funeral services for Pope Pius had disappeared. In their places were bright new posters hailing the new pontiff.

There was jubilitation in Pope John's native north Italian hamlet, Sotto il Monte, and in Venice at elevation of the jovial, portly patriarch who in the Catholic view becomes the 262nd vicar of Christ on earth and a direct successor of St. Peter.

Bonfires burned Tuesday night and fireworks exploded at Sotto il Monte, a village of 1,733 in the shadow of the Alps, where the Pope was born the son of a poor farmer Nov. 25, 1881. Three surviving brothers and a sister still live there.

Hope Is Dim For Arms Talks

Tougher Soviet Line Is Blamed by U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials saw little hope today for any early agreement between the Soviet Union and the Western powers for a start on disarmament in the nuclear age.

They blame the darkening prospect on evidences that the Soviet Union is following a generally tougher line in its relations with the West.

Secretary of State Dulles says this may be due in some degree to a possible realization among Soviet leaders that despite remarkable scientific achievements the Soviet Union is still behind the United States in the nuclear weapons race in important respects.

Two negotiations are imminent.

On Friday the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union will open diplomatic talks at Geneva on a possible ban on nuclear weapons testing, to be backed up by a worldwide international inspection system to prevent violations.

Ten days later panels of Communist state and Western experts will start discussions on the technical problems involved in preventing surprise attack — such things as ground and aerial inspection systems which would be capable of discovering concentrations of troops and weapons in advance of a massive assault.

President Eisenhower had proposed last summer that beginning with the opening of the Geneva nuclear test talks the world's atomic powers — the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union — should suspend tests for a year beginning Oct. 31. If progress on inspection installations was made during that year the suspension would be renewed.

In New York Monday night, a Soviet spokesman told the United Nations that his government would not agree to the one-year test suspension. The proposal was attacked again Tuesday, with the Soviet Union renewing a call for immediate, unconditional agreement to end testing.

Rabbi Hails New Pope

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP)—Dr. Isaac Halevy Herzog, chief rabbi of the Holy Land, today cabled his blessings to newly elected Pope John XXIII.

New Pope Called Jovial Man, Defender of Public Morals

VATICAN CITY (AP) — "The quiet after the tempest."

Thus priests of the archdiocese of Venice described Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli when he became patriarch of the canal city at the head of the Adriatic.

The portly new pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church — henceforth to be known as Pope John XXIII—is a jovial man, a student of history, and a vigorous defender of public morals. At 76 he begins his reign later in life than any pope in 228 years. But his associates say he has a quick mind, a quick smile, good health and a determined character.

"I was born of poor parents," he told his new flock on his arrival in Venice in 1953. "Providence took me from my native hamlet and led me to travel the roads of the world, from east to west, putting me in contact with most serious social and political problems . . . (but) don't look at your patriarch as a politician or diplomat —look at him as the servant of God."

He often invited his priests to dine at his table. He walked the city's twisted streets and rode the gondolas through its canals, winning the reputation of a tireless worker.

But his tolerance and good humor did not extend to certain facets of life in the pleasure-loving city.

He closed Venice's churches to tourists in shorts, saying, "Italy is not on the Equator, and even there, by the way, lions wear their coats and crocodiles are lined with their most precious hides."

He told the 1957 Venice Film Festival the movie industry must not limit itself to "presenting the decadence of modern customs . . . Moviegoers want to see more beautiful things."

He opposed the moving of the gambling casino from the seaside Lido to the center of the city, calling gambling a "grave disorder in itself, deplorable and to be condemned wherever it may be practised, even if in secret."

Few of the new Pope's political views are on the public record. He has spoken against extreme left-wing socialism and like Pius XII can be expected to work unceasingly for peace. His motto as a cardinal was "Obedience and peace." But little or nothing is known about his views on the cold war, the space age, atomic bombs, modern science and other such subjects on which his predecessor in the Vatican often spoke.

The new Pope was born Nov. 25, 1881, in the Bergamo province village of Sotto il Monte, at the foot of the north Italian Alps 30 miles northeast of Milan. He was one of 10 children of Giovanni (John) Battista Roncalli, a poor farmer, and Maria Anna Mazzola.

His Troubles Come in Dark

CLEVELAND (AP) — If Bill Stephens leaves a night light on in his second story bedroom he doesn't have any trouble.

But Tuesday night Stephens, who has had sleepwalking problems since he was "a kid," forgot the light when he went to bed.

He went through a pane of glass in a door, burst through a screen door onto a second floor porch, fell 15 feet to the lawn below, then strolled 100 yards and scaled a seven-foot fence.

"That's when I woke up," said the 21-year-old Stephens, who was treated for leg and arm cuts at Metropolitan General Hospital.

Soviet Writer Cites 'Society' I Live in'

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Soviet Author Boris Pasternak today refused to accept the Nobel Prize for Literature. He referred to "the society I live in."

Pasternak sent a cable to Dr. Anders Oesterling, permanent secretary of the Royal Swedish Academy, which awards the literary Nobel prizes.

"Because of the meaning attributed to this award in the society I live in, I ought to say no thanks to the undeserved prize awarded me," Pasternak said. "Do not take my voluntary refusal with any ill will."

Oestering received a cable from Pasternak Saturday expressing his gratitude at the Nobel award.

That cable read: "Immensely thankful, touched, proud, astonished, abashed."

Today's cable indicated that in the meantime something had happened to Pasternak to change his mind. The author of the novel "Doctor Zhivago", which is critical of communism, has been under rigorous attack in the Soviet press.

Pasternak was named for the award last week. The Soviet press asserted the selection was an anti-Soviet political maneuver.

Pravda, the official Communist party paper, heaped abuse on Pasternak and "Doctor Zhivago." It said he should reject the $41,420 cash prize if there were "a spark of Soviet dignity left in him."

The Nobel Prize Committee presented the Russians with a dilemma. It awarded the Prize in Physics Tuesday to three top-ranking Soviet scientists — P. A. Cherenkov, I. M. Frank and Igor E. Tamm. The question was: would the Soviets let the scientists accept the physics award and at the same time keep Pasternak home?

The answer appeared in the Soviet press in Moscow today. The Russians were setting up a double standard on the Nobel prizes.

It said the physics award was fitting but at the same time it said it proved that the award for literature was dictated by "reactionary political aims."

"Doctor Zhivago" has never been published in the Soviet Union, but it is being widely read abroad.

Coeds Say All That Wiggles Is Not Gold

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Some of the girls at Purdue University are complaining that all that wiggles is not gold.

The storm was stirred up by a hula dance by Adelaide Jeanne Darling, Purdue's new "Golden Girl," between halves of the televised Purdue-Notre Dame football game last Saturday.

"She not only walks and talks Purdue Exponent, campus newsbut wiggles excessively," wrote two other coeds in a letter to the paper. "Our football team has gained fame this year by good performances. Must we accompany this glory by these halftime antics?"

The letter was signed by Julia Jackson of Chicago and Ellen Kenney of Middletown, Ohio.

Miss Darling, a freshman in home economics from Manteca, Calif., who won the "Golden Girl" competition among other baton twirlers, said:

"A hula is a hula. It seems to be what they want around here. After all, my business is to be a showman."

O'Neill Plans Another TV Talk Tonight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill will fly to Cleveland this afternoon in advance of a statewide TV speech originating from Cleveland Station KYW-TV. The speech is scheduled for 8:30 to 9 p.m.

Following the television appearance, the governor will give a speech in the Moreland Theater in Cleveland. It is scheduled for 9:15 p.m.

The governor remained in the mansion most of today preparing his speech.

Theme of the governor's talk will be "Shall Ohio Become a Satellite of Michigan?" His aides said the address will compare what the governor terms "Michigan's labor - dominated government" with Ohio.

It is O'Neill's position that the Buckeye State offers a climate to attract industry, whereas factories are leaving Michigan due to the labor situation and higher taxes.

Logan Newpaper Abandons DiSalle

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—The Logan Daily News, which two years ago supported Democrat Michael V. DiSalle for governor, announced in an editorial Tuesday it is supporting Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill for re-election. The editorial said O'Neill had "proved his ability, his energy, and his courage."

Yank Rock 'n' Roll Brings German Riot

ESSEN, Germany (AP) — Bill Haley's rock 'n' roll music set off a third riot of West German teenagers Tuesday night.

This time 300 police were ready and broke up the riot before serious damage was done.

During an intermission in the program by Haley's American band, teen-agers wearing leather jackets and blue jeans began whistling for the star's reappearance. When he came out, they tried to storm the stage, for reasons best known to themselves.

The other riots occurred during recent Haley appearances in Hamburg and West Berlin.

TRICK OR TREAT — Mrs. Glenn Snyder, left, hands UNICEF trick or treat cartons to three youngsters who will be out for pennies tomorrow evening. Instead of the usual candy, apples and gum, youngsters will ask for penny "treats" to be given to UNICEF — United Nation's Children's Fund. Each youngster will have a milk carton with a special UNICEF label as identification. Ready for the big night are, from left, Brenda Mary Johnson, Dick Snyder and Jerry Stewart. (Staff Photo)

His swords-into-plowshares appeal was taken as a firm sign that he intends to continue the fight for peace which made Pius XII known as the "Pope of Peace."

Pope John — Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli, patriarch of Venice, until his election Tuesday by the College of Cardinals — prayed to God for strength and courage in his new tasks. He called especially upon the Virgin Mary for assistance.

The 76-year-old Pope spoke in Latin for 20 minutes in a firm and powerful voice. Before the address, he received the homage of the 51 cardinals gathered in the chapel.

He asked God's help for those in countries where there is no religious freedom—an indirect reference to Communist-ruled nations —and for all who suffer. He told those who "have in their hands the fate of the peoples" that peace comes from the interior soul and cannot be imposed.

His quickness in going before the radio to give his thoughts to the world was taken as a sign that he intends his reign to be a dynamic one. Radio was one of the means frequently used by his predecessor to give his messages to the world and to try to reach the peoples of Soviet Russia, Red China and other Communist-dominated lands.

The new Pope is expected to be crowned within two weeks.

The jeweled, three-tiered tiara of the papacy, topped by golden orb and cross, perhaps will be placed upon his head Sunday, Nov. 9, in the climax at St. Peter's Basilica of the drama that began with the fatal illness of Pope Pius at Castel Gandolfo.

Vatican authorities prepared today for the coronation, the most colorful ceremony of the Roman Catholic Church, while messages of congratulation and best wishes poured in from chiefs of state and government heads of many nations.

After his broadcast, Pope John ordered the reopening of the doors of the conclave area, where 51 princes of the church had gone through the three tense days of balloting that finally led to his selection.

Bells of St. Peter's and of Rome's 500 churches pealed.

A brilliant sun shone over the Italian capital, which was in a festive mood. Throughout the city the posters announcing the death and funeral services for Pope Pius had disappeared. In their places were bright new posters hailing the new pontiff.

There was jubilitation in Pope John's native north Italian hamlet, Sotto il Monte, and in Venice at elevation of the jovial, portly patriarch who in the Catholic view becomes the 262nd vicar of Christ on earth and a direct successor of St. Peter.

Bonfires burned Tuesday night and fireworks exploded at Sotto il Monte, a village of 1,733 in the shadow of the Alps, where the Pope was born the son of a poor farmer Nov. 25, 1881. Three surviving brothers and a sister still live there.

Hope Is Dim For Arms Talks

Tougher Soviet Line Is Blamed by U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials saw little hope today for any early agreement between the Soviet Union and the Western powers for a start on disarmament in the nuclear age.

They blame the darkening prospect on evidences that the Soviet Union is following a generally tougher line in its relations with the West.

Secretary of State Dulles says this may be due in some degree to a possible realization among Soviet leaders that despite remarkable scientific achievements the Soviet Union is still behind the United States in the nuclear weapons race in important respects.

Two negotiations are imminent. On Friday the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union will open diplomatic talks at Geneva on a possible ban on nuclear weapons testing, to be backed up by a worldwide international inspection system to prevent violations.

Ten days later panels of Communist state and Western experts will start discussions on the technical problems involved in preventing surprise attack — such things as ground and aerial inspection systems which would be capable of discovering concentrations of troops and weapons in advance of a massive assault.

President Eisenhower had proposed last summer that beginning with the opening of the Geneva nuclear test talks the world's atomic powers — the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union — should suspend tests for a year beginning Oct. 31. If progress on inspection installations was made during that year the suspension would be renewed.

In New York Monday night, a Soviet spokesman told the United Nations that his government would not agree to the one-year test suspension. The proposal was attacked again Tuesday, with the Soviet Union renewing a call for immediate, unconditional agreement to end testing.

Rabbi Hails New Pope

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP)—Dr. Isaac Halevy Herzog, chief rabbi of the Holy Land, today cabled his blessings to newly elected Pope John XXIII.

New Pope Called Jovial Man, Defender of Public Morals

VATICAN CITY (AP) — "The quiet after the tempest."

Thus priests of the archdiocese of Venice described Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli when he became patriarch of the canal city at the head of the Adriatic.

The portly new pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church — henceforth to be known as Pope John XXIII—is a jovial man, a student of history, and a vigorous defender of public morals. At 76 he begins his reign later in life than any pope in 228 years. But his associates say he has a quick mind, a quick smile, good health and a determined character.

"I was born of poor parents," he told his new flock on his arrival in Venice in 1953. "Providence took me from my native hamlet and led me to travel the roads of the world, from east to west, putting me in contact with most serious social and political problems . . . (but) don't look at your patriarch as a politician or diplomat —look at him as the servant of God."

He often invited his priests to dine at his table. He walked the city's twisted streets and rode the gondolas through its canals, winning the reputation of a tireless worker.

But his tolerance and good humor did not extend to certain facets of life in the pleasure-loving city.

He closed Venice's churches to tourists in shorts, saying, "Italy is not on the Equator, and even there, by the way, lions wear their coats and crocodiles are lined with their most precious hides."

He told the 1957 Venice Film Festival the movie industry must not limit itself to "presenting the decadence of modern customs . . . Moviegoers want to see more beautiful things."

He opposed the moving of the gambling casino from the seaside Lido to the center of the city, calling gambling a "grave disorder in itself, deplorable and to be condemned wherever it may be practised, even if in secret."

Few of the new Pope's political views are on the public record. He has spoken against extreme left-wing socialism and like Pius XII can be expected to work unceasingly for peace. His motto as a cardinal was "Obedience and peace." But little or nothing is known about his views on the cold war, the space age, atomic bombs, modern science and other such subjects on which his predecessor in the Vatican often spoke.

The new Pope was born Nov. 25, 1881, in the Bergamo province village of Sotto il Monte, at the foot of the north Italian Alps 30 miles northeast of Milan. He was one of 10 children of Giovanni (John) Battista Roncalli, a poor farmer, and Maria Anna Mazzola.

His Troubles Come in Dark

CLEVELAND (AP) — If Bill Stephens leaves a night light on in his second story bedroom he doesn't have any trouble.

But Tuesday night Stephens, who has had sleepwalking problems since he was "a kid," forgot the light when he went to bed.

He went through a pane of glass in a door, burst through a screen door onto a second floor porch, fell 15 feet to the lawn below, then strolled 100 yards and scaled a seven-foot fence.

"That's when I woke up," said the 21-year-old Stephens, who was treated for leg and arm cuts at Metropolitan General Hospital.

O'Neill Plans Another TV Talk Tonight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill will fly to Cleveland this afternoon in advance of a statewide TV speech originating from Cleveland Station KYW-TV. The speech is scheduled for 8:30 to 9 p.m.

Following the television appearance, the governor will give a speech in the Moreland Theater in Cleveland. It is scheduled for 9:15 p.m.

The governor remained in the mansion most of today preparing his speech.

Theme of the governor's talk will be "Shall Ohio Become a Satellite of Michigan?" His aides said the address will compare what the governor terms "Michigan's labor - dominated government" with Ohio.

It is O'Neill's position that the Buckeye State offers a climate to attract industry, whereas factories are leaving Michigan due to the labor situation and higher taxes.

Logan Newpaper Abandons DiSalle

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—The Logan Daily News, which two years ago supported Democrat Michael V. DiSalle for governor, announced in an editorial Tuesday it is supporting Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill for re-election. The editorial said O'Neill had "proved his ability, his energy, and his courage."

Soviet Writer Cites 'Society' I Live in'

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Soviet Author Boris Pasternak today refused to accept the Nobel Prize for Literature. He referred to "the society I live in."

Pasternak sent a cable to Dr. Anders Oesterling, permanent secretary of the Royal Swedish Academy, which awards the literary Nobel prizes.

"Because of the meaning attributed to this award in the society I live in, I ought to say no thanks to the undeserved prize awarded me," Pasternak said. "Do not take my voluntary refusal with any ill will."

Oestering received a cable from Pasternak Saturday expressing his gratitude at the Nobel award.

That cable read: "Immensely thankful, touched, proud, astonished, abashed."

Today's cable indicated that in the meantime something had happened to Pasternak to change his mind. The author of the novel "Doctor Zhivago", which is critical of communism, has been under rigorous attack in the Soviet press.

Pasternak was named for the award last week. The Soviet press asserted the selection was an anti-Soviet political maneuver.

Pravda, the official Communist party paper, heaped abuse on Pasternak and "Doctor Zhivago." It said he should reject the $41,420 cash prize if there were "a spark of Soviet dignity left in him."

The Nobel Prize Committee presented the Russians with a dilemma. It awarded the Prize in Physics Tuesday to three top-ranking Soviet scientists — P. A. Cherenkov, I. M. Frank and Igor E. Tamm. The question was: would the Soviets let the scientists accept the physics award and at the same time keep Pasternak home?

The answer appeared in the Soviet press in Moscow today. The Russians were setting up a double standard on the Nobel prizes.

It said the physics award was fitting but at the same time it said it proved that the award for literature was dictated by "reactionary political aims."

"Doctor Zhivago" has never been published in the Soviet Union, but it is being widely read abroad.

Coeds Say All That Wiggles Is Not Gold

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Some of the girls at Purdue University are complaining that all that wiggles is not gold.

The storm was stirred up by a hula dance by Adelaide Jeanne Darling, Purdue's new "Golden Girl," between halves of the televised Purdue-Notre Dame football game last Saturday.

"She not only walks and talks Purdue Exponent, campus newsbut wiggles excessively," wrote two other coeds in a letter to the paper. "Our football team has gained fame this year by good performances. Must we accompany this glory by these halftime antics?"

The letter was signed by Julia Jackson of Chicago and Ellen Kenney of Middletown, Ohio.

Miss Darling, a freshman in home economics from Manteca, Calif., who won the "Golden Girl" competition among other baton twirlers, said:

"A hula is a hula. It seems to be what they want around here. After all, my business is to be a showman."

Yank Rock 'n' Roll Brings German Riot

ESSEN, Germany (AP) — Bill Haley's rock 'n' roll music set off a third riot of West German teenagers Tuesday night.

This time 300 police were ready and broke up the riot before serious damage was done.

During an intermission in the program by Haley's American band, teen-agers wearing leather jackets and blue jeans began whistling for the star's reappearance. When he came out, they tried to storm the stage, for reasons best known to themselves.

The other riots occurred during recent Haley appearances in Hamburg and West Berlin.

Chairmen of the Jaycee committee are Ed Webb, Larry Priest and William D. Clifton.

Man with Visions Escapes Hospital

J. T. Squyres, Circleville, Monday escaped from the Columbus State Hospital, where he had been committed for treatment by the Pickaway County Probate Court.

Squyres spent more than six months in confinement after he was placed under a $500 peace bond by the Circleville Municipal Court. He was committeed for two months in the Lima State Hospital.

In late September, after many hearings before Judge Guy G. Cline, he was sent to the Columbus Hospital.

According to court records, the 50-year-old former Texan in March had threatened the lives of three local persons. He said he had seen "visions from God" ordering him to commit these acts.

Young Seeks Big Backing In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Stephen M. Young's bid to unseat John W. Bricker in the U. S. Senate is concentrated in this final week of the campaign here in Cleveland where the votes are concentrated.

He had six ward meetings Tuesday night, has four tonight, eight Thursday, three more Friday, a debate with his Republican opponent at the City Club Saturday, and two television shows and another ward meeting here Sunday.

The Cleveland Democrat asserted Tuesday that Bricker has said "The depression is over" and this indicates he tends to "ignore the actual economic conditions that are going on around him and, like the ostrich, has his head buried in the sand."

The facts are, Young continued, "that because of the bumbling leadership given to the American people by the Republican administration and its supporters, like Mr. Bricker, there are still tens of thousands of Ohioans receiving a meager handout in unemployment benefits."

Young said:

"Bricker is just like former President Hoover, who said that prosperity was right around the corner and that relief was a local problem."

Stock Mart Shows New Price Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market's renewed advance gathered strength early this afternoon as prices rose in heavy trading.

Gains of fractions to around two points were scattered through the list.

Industrials and rails moved forward together in a resumption of Tuesday's late rally which halted six straight days of corrective action from the historic high.

Steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts, electronics, utilities, coppers, chemicals, electrical equipments, oils, airlines, tobaccos and drugs joined the rise.

The market was higher from the start, buoyed by encouraging corporate news and improvement in the economy. Construction contracts were reported at a high for September. The Commerce Department reported business advancing faster than usual this fall.

The ticker tape was late in the morning, once for a stretch of 34 minutes.

Zenith, spurred by record sales and profits, added more than two to a seven-point rise Tuesday. Merch, up more than two and Celanese, ahead about a point, also were helped by increased earnings.

U.S. Steel was about unchanged following Tuesday's one-point rise.

American Motors rose more that a point, Checker Motor about two.

Boeing was up about 2 and General Dynamics up a point or so.

Pfizer and Raytheon also rose about two points. Lorillard advanced more than a point.

U.S. government bonds drifted lower.

200 Attend GOP Meeting

Approximately 200 persons were on hand at the Republican Rally and Turkey Dinner held Monday evening in Scioto Valley Grange Hall, north of Ashville.

Guests came from Circleville, New Holland, Williamsport, Orient, Mt. Sterling and Ashville. Candidates for state, district and county offices were in attendance and each spoke a few words.

The November meeting of the Pickaway County Women's Republican Club will be held here in the home of Mrs. C. E. Wright, 129½ E. Mound St.

Hypnotism Helps Run Big Business

CINCINNATI (AP)—Sometimes it even takes hypnotism to run big business.

Executives of the Kroger Co., a large midwest grocery chain, found this out recently when they tried to complete the purchase of a Dallas, Tex., chain.

A problem cropped up—a stock certificate worth roughly $100,000 was missing.

Jacob Davis, Kroger vice president, told Tuesday how a hypnotist helped track down the missing paper and saved an executive $3,500, to boot:

Jack Evans, vice president of Wyatt Food Stores of Dallas, found he had misplaced the stock certificate, probably three years ago.

The paper was essential for Kroger's purchase of the Wyatt chain.

Evans, having no luck with his own memory, met hypnotist Franz Polgar near Dallas, and asked him to help.

In a trance, Evans said the certificate was wrapped around his will in a safety deposit box.

A quick check showed this was true.

The sale was completed and Evans was saved from paying $3,500 for posting an indemnity bond.

Davis said he hopes that's the last time the firm has to use hypnotism as a business tool.

Odd Parcel Buzzes and Jiggles Too

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A little package in the Post Office at San Francisco International Airport wasn't just buzzing. It was jiggling, too.

No traffic was halted, but employes gingerly picked up the eight inch package and carried it outside on the apron, still buzzing and jiggling.

While an Army demolition officer was rushing from The Presidio in case the thing needed disarming, sheriff's officers checked the addressee, Mrs. Lulu Hale, San Diego. When she didn't know what might be in the package carrying the return address of H. C. Lee, general delivery, San Francisco, the officers got serious.

The Army officer came and froze the little package with carbon dioxide. Then he opened it, to find a small battery-power vibrator used for facial massage, which cheerfully resumed vibrating as it thawed.

Voting Machine Use Increasing At Ohio Polls

20 Counties in State Now Use Mechanical Balloting System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More Ohioans will use voting machines in next Tuesday's electon than ever before.

Twenty counties have acquired 5,192 of the lever-equipped devices that outmode paper ballots. Last year 15 of Ohio's 88 counties used only 4,194 machines.

Springfield was the first Ohio city to use them more than a decade ago. They cost about $1,500 each but many are rented.

New counties in the voting machine list compiled by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown are Cuyahoga, Crawford, Geauga, Logan and Washington.

Only 10 counties use machines exclusively. That leaves the familiar paper ballots for nearly two-thirds of Ohio's expected 3,450,000 voters to mark with pencils. Officials estimate about 1,250,000 voters will use machines.

Cuyahoga County has acquired 500 machines for use in 248 of its 2,271 precincts. About 75,000 voters will use them for the first time. The machines have been distributed equally throughout the county and the city of Cleveland.

Half of them are the Shoup, or vertical-type, machines. The others are the Automatic type, listing candidates and issues horizontally.

Manufacturers have agreed to loan the county 25 extra machines for the debut there. That gesture is intended to make sure that waiting lines do not develop as they have on occasion elsewhere.

Brown said waiting lines in machine precincts have virtually disappeared. He expressed belief voter lines would be no worse in mechanized polling places this year than in those using paper ballots.

Officials said election returns from machine precincts usually are reported early because the paper ballot count is slower. They will be watching machine returns for a clue to trends in the Cleveland area where the vote-heavy count always runs late and often is decisive.

Brown said another advantage of machines is their accuracy. Most recounts have shown virtually no change from original tallies, he explained. But recounts in paper ballot precincts sometimes vary widely and occasionally change an election outcome.

Machine use also has reduced the number of election workers in polling places. Many officials said they turned to them because workers are increasingly diffcult to find. Long hours and low pay are blamed.

Statute allows a maximum of $18 for election pay but the average ranges between $12 and $15. The polls are open between 6:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. but workers must stay until the count is finished several hours later.

Six workers usually staff a polling place but machines cut that number to four. A few places use a two-platoon system. That method keeps six workers on duty during voting hours but a second shift does the counting. Columbiana County this year will add two extra workers to help count ballots.

Brown said population increases and shifts have required more polling places in many areas. But Coshocton County, by using more machines, reduced its polling places by 15.

Ohio has 12,956 polling places this year compared with 12,440 a year ago and 12,097 in 1956.

The secretary of state asserted poling places generally have not been added to compensate for the reduction of workers in machine precincts. He estimated that 130,000 workers will handle this year's election. Some of those workers are volunteers.

Voters are alowed five minutes by law to mark their ballots. Some take a lot longer but officials rarely hurry them. All those in line when the polls close are entitled to vote, Brown said.

Dentist Freed Of Charges Filed by VA

CLEVELAND (AP) — Federal Judge Paul C. Weick has found a Newton Falls dentist innocent of falsifying claims to the government for work done on war veterans.

In dismissing a two-count indictment against Dr. J. L. Reynolds Tuesday, the judge said:

"It is inconceivable that a man of Dr. Reynolds' standing would jeopardize his livelihood and reputation for this amount of money.

"Admittedly the claims were false. Dr. Reynolds . . . did not intend to defraud the United States."

On the witness stand Dr. Reynolds admitted submitting incorrect claims for compensation. In one case he did $26 worth of work and billed the government for $94. In another case he billed the VA for $191 although the veteran had paid him $180 for work covered by that bill.

The dentist said he sometimes waited many months for payment on VA claims and in the first instance had tried to speed things along, fully expecting to complete treatment. However, the patient did not show up to have the dental work finished.

The second case involved was started without VA authorization, the dentist said, and when the government money came through he returned the payment made by the veteran.

Dunton Thanks Pumpkin Show

James G. Dunton, local native, and the man responsible for the Circleville Pumpkin Show receiving the services of the U. S. Army Field Band and the Air Force Drum and Bugle Corps and Ceremonial Team, today thanked Pumpkin Show Program Director James Shea for the fine response given the latest Armed Services attraction here.

Dunton, who is Director of Public Services of the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense, said Shea's complimentary letter of October 21 was much appreciated.

He stated that he would pass the letter along to authorities in the Air Force, which would be particularly gratifying. Dunton related, "In view of the success these units have enjoyed at Circleville this year, the Air Force should be inclined to send them back again for some future Pumpkin Show.

Dunton said for Shea to give regards to Bob Colville, Ben Gordon and all other friends and public spirited Roundtowners who are associated with the Pumpkin Show Society.

HE SAID he was confident that Circleville has the most successful "street show" in the U. S., and that certainly this kind of civic enterprise and community identification should be continued.

He concluded stating that fortunately Circleville has the kind of community leadership required to keep the Pumpkin Show going year after year.

Local Church Is Incorporated

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown issued a not for profit corporation charter today to the "Pilgrims Holines Church," listing its principal location as Circleville, Ohio.

Listed as trustees until the first annual meeting or other meeting called to elect trustees were: Paul W. Seymour, 161 W. Union St., Milton Davis, 330 W. Union St. and Thomas L. Beavers, Route 4.

5 Drivers Fined For Violations

Five motorists were citted into Circleville Municipal Court yesterday and today for traffic violations.

Four drivers arrested by the State Highway Patrol were:

Frank F. Woods Jr., 20, Columbus, 20, Columbus, Savage, 23, Pittsburgh, Pa.; each fined $20 and costs for speeding at 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Raymond A. McFee, 20, Route 1, Circleville; $15 and costs for speeding at 65 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

James J. Armstrong, 31, Route 2, Bellvue; $10 and costs for failure to yield the right of way.

Edwin L. Runkle, 77, Ashville, was fined $10 and costs for failure to yield the right of way. He was cited by the sheriff's department.

DeGaulle Plan For Western Policy Shelved

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration leaders are reported strongly opposed to a French proposal that the Big Three countries vastly increase consultation among themselves before deciding on important foreign policy moves.

Many diplomatic authorities regard the plan put forth by French Premier Charles De Gaulle as a disguised effort to establish an American - British - French "directorate" or "triumvirate" to boss Western strategy in the cold war.

Other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization have opposed such a move.

De Gaulle put forward his ideas in recent letters to President Eisenhower and Britain's Prime Minister MacMillan. The French foreign office acknowledged Tuesday the letters had been sent, but denied reports De Gaulle was seeking to reorganize the North Atlantic pact. Contents of the letters have not been disclosed.

De Gaulle's suggestions are viewed skeptically by some officials as a move to increase France's voice in world affairs in line with his ambition to bolster French prestge under his leadership.

As such they collide head on with Secretary of State Dulles' call for "interdependence" among all Western countries.

Assault, Battery Case Held for Jury Action

Raymond J. Haley, cited into Circleville Municipal Court on an accusation of assault and battery, was bound to the Pickaway County Grand Jury on request of the defense.

Bond was set at $50. The affidavit was filed by Ruth B. Haley.

Man with Visions Escapes Hospital

J. T. Squyres, Circleville, Monday escaped from the Columbus State Hospital, where he had been committed for treatment by the Pickaway County Probate Court.

Squyres spent more than six months in confinement after he was placed under a $500 peace bond by the Circleville Municipal Court. He was committeed for two months in the Lima State Hospital.

In late September, after many hearings before Judge Guy G. Cline, he was sent to the Columbus Hospital.

According to court records, the 50-year-old former Texan in March had threatened the lives of three local persons. He said he had seen "visions from God" ordering him to commit these acts.

Young Seeks Big Backing In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Stephen M. Young's bid to unseat John W. Bricker in the U. S. Senate is concentrated in this final week of the campaign here in Cleveland where the votes are concentrated.

He had six ward meetings Tuesday night, has four tonight, eight Thursday, three more Friday, a debate with his Republican opponent at the City Club Saturday, and two television shows and another ward meeting here Sunday.

The Cleveland Democrat asserted Tuesday that Bricker has said "The depression is over" and this indicates he tends to "ignore the actual economic conditions that are going on around him and, like the ostrich, has his head buried in the sand."

The facts are, Young continued, "that because of the bumbling leadership given to the American people by the Republican administration and its supporters, like Mr. Bricker, there are still tens of thousands of Ohioans receiving a meager handout in unemployment benefits."

Young said:

"Bricker is just like former President Hoover, who said that prosperity was right around the corner and that relief was a local problem."

Stock Mart Shows New Price Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market's renewed advance gathered strength early this afternoon as prices rose in heavy trading.

Gains of fractions to around two points were scattered through the list.

Industrials and rails moved forward together in a resumption of Tuesday's late rally which halted six straight days of corrective action from the historic high.

Steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts, electronics, utilities, coppers, chemicals, electrical equipments, oils, airlines, tobaccos and drugs joined the rise.

The market was higher from the start, buoyed by encouraging corporate news and improvement in the economy. Construction contracts were reported at a high for September. The Commerce Department reported business advancing faster than usual this fall.

The ticker tape was late in the morning, once for a stretch of 34 minutes.

Zenith, spurred by record sales and profits, added more than two to a seven-point rise Tuesday. Merch, up more than two and Celanese, ahead about a point, also were helped by increased earnings.

U.S. Steel was about unchanged following Tuesday's one-point rise.

American Motors rose more that a point, Checker Motor about two.

Boeing was up about 2 and General Dynamics up a point or so.

Pfizer and Raytheon also rose about two points. Lorillard advanced more than a point.

U.S. government bonds drifted lower.

200 Attend GOP Meeting

Approximately 200 persons were on hand at the Republican Rally and Turkey Dinner held Monday evening in Scioto Valley Grange Hall, north of Ashville.

Guests came from Circleville, New Holland, Williamsport, Orient, Mt. Sterling and Ashville. Candidates for state, district and county offices were in attendance and each spoke a few words.

The November meeting of the Pickaway County Women's Republican Club will be held here in the home of Mrs. C. E. Wright, 129½ E. Mound St.

Hypnotism Helps Run Big Business

CINCINNATI (AP)—Sometimes it even takes hypnotism to run big business.

Executives of the Kroger Co., a large midwest grocery chain, found this out recently when they tried to complete the purchase of a Dallas, Tex., chain.

A problem cropped up—a stock certificate worth roughly $100,000 was missing.

Jacob Davis, Kroger vice president, told Tuesday how a hypnotist helped track down the missing paper and saved an executive $3,500, to boot:

Jack Evans, vice president of Wyatt Food Stores of Dallas, found he had misplaced the stock certificate, probably three years ago.

The paper was essential for Kroger's purchase of the Wyatt chain.

Evans, having no luck with his own memory, met hypnotist Franz Polgar near Dallas, and asked him to help.

In a trance, Evans said the certificate was wrapped around his will in a safety deposit box.

A quick check showed this was true.

The sale was completed and Evans was saved from paying $3,500 for posting an indemnity bond.

Davis said he hopes that's the last time the firm has to use hypnotism as a business tool.

Odd Parcel Buzzes and Jiggles Too

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A little package in the Post Office at San Francisco International Airport wasn't just buzzing. It was jiggling, too.

No traffic was halted, but employes gingerly picked up the eight inch package and carried it outside on the apron, still buzzing and jiggling.

While an Army demolition officer was rushing from The Presidio in case the thing needed disarming, sheriff's officers checked the addressee, Mrs. Lulu Hale, San Diego. When she didn't know what might be in the package carrying the return address of H. C. Lee, general delivery, San Francisco, the officers got serious.

The Army officer came and froze the little package with carbon dioxide. Then he opened it, to find a small battery-power vibrator used for facial massage, which cheerfully resumed vibrating as it thawed.

Voting Machine Use Increasing At Ohio Polls

20 Counties in State Now Use Mechanical Balloting System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More Ohioans will use voting machines in next Tuesday's electon than ever before.

Twenty counties have acquired 5,192 of the lever-equipped devices that outmode paper ballots. Last year 15 of Ohio's 88 counties used only 4,194 machines.

Springfield was the first Ohio city to use them more than a decade ago. They cost about $1,500 each but many are rented.

New counties in the voting machine list compiled by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown are Cuyahoga, Crawford, Geauga, Logan and Washington.

Only 10 counties use machines exclusively. That leaves the familiar paper ballots for nearly two-thirds of Ohio's expected 3,450,000 voters to mark with pencils. Officials estimate about 1,250,000 voters will use machines.

Cuyahoga County has acquired 500 machines for use in 248 of its 2,271 precincts. About 75,000 voters will use them for the first time. The machines have been distributed equally throughout the county and the city of Cleveland.

Half of them are the Shoup, or vertical-type, machines. The others are the Automatic type, listing candidates and issues horizontally.

Manufacturers have agreed to loan the county 25 extra machines for the debut there. That gesture is intended to make sure that waiting lines do not develop as they have on occasion elsewhere.

Brown said waiting lines in machine precincts have virtually disappeared. He expressed belief voter lines would be no worse in mechanized polling places this year than in those using paper ballots.

Officials said election returns from machine precincts usually are reported early because the paper ballot count is slower. They will be watching machine returns for a clue to trends in the Cleveland area where the vote-heavy count always runs late and often is decisive.

Brown said another advantage of machines is their accuracy. Most recounts have shown virtually no change from original tallies, he explained. But recounts in paper ballot precincts sometimes vary widely and occasionally change an election outcome.

Machine use also has reduced the number of election workers in polling places. Many officials said they turned to them because workers are increasingly diffcult to find. Long hours and low pay are blamed.

Statute allows a maximum of $18 for election pay but the average ranges between $12 and $15. The polls are open between 6:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. but workers must stay until the count is finished several hours later.

Six workers usually staff a polling place but machines cut that number to four. A few places use a two-platoon system. That method keeps six workers on duty during voting hours but a second shift does the counting. Columbiana County this year will add two extra workers to help count ballots.

Brown said population increases and shifts have required more polling places in many areas. But Coshocton County, by using more machines, reduced its polling places by 15.

Ohio has 12,956 polling places this year compared with 12,440 a year ago and 12,097 in 1956.

The secretary of state asserted poling places generally have not been added to compensate for the reduction of workers in machine precincts. He estimated that 130,000 workers will handle this year's election. Some of those workers are volunteers.

Voters are alowed five minutes by law to mark their ballots. Some take a lot longer but officials rarely hurry them. All those in line when the polls close are entitled to vote, Brown said.

Dentist Freed Of Charges Filed by VA

CLEVELAND (AP) — Federal Judge Paul C. Weick has found a Newton Falls dentist innocent of falsifying claims to the government for work done on war veterans.

In dismissing a two-count indictment against Dr. J. L. Reynolds Tuesday, the judge said:

"It is inconceivable that a man of Dr. Reynolds' standing would jeopardize his livelihood and reputation for this amount of money.

"Admittedly the claims were false. Dr. Reynolds . . . did not intend to defraud the United States."

On the witness stand Dr. Reynolds admitted submitting incorrect claims for compensation. In one case he did $26 worth of work and billed the government for $94. In another case he billed the VA for $191 although the veteran had paid him $180 for work covered by that bill.

The dentist said he sometimes waited many months for payment on VA claims and in the first instance had tried to speed things along, fully expecting to complete treatment. However, the patient did not show up to have the dental work finished.

The second case involved was started without VA authorization, the dentist said, and when the government money came through he returned the payment made by the veteran.

As such they collide head on with Secretary of State Dulles' call for "interdependence" among all Western countries.

Additional Aid for Education

More corporations have become aware of the great need for privately donated funds for higher education, according to a report by the Council for Financial Aid to education. Not only is the direct aid to colleges and universities increasing, but it no longer carries as many stipulations as it once did.

Back in 1950, the average corporation was giving 21 per cent of its total philanthropic dollar to education, but by 1956 this percentage had increased to 34 per cent. Dollar volume during this period was increasing also, until by 1956 more than 60 U. S. corporations were donating more than $100,000 annually.

Generous as these sums may be, they fall far short of the five per cent of net income before taxes allowed by the Internal Revenue Service to be donated to educational institutions on a tax-free basis. Of 275 of the nation's largest business concerns, only 14 gave as much as one per cent of net income in 1956. None of these reached the maximum figure, the closest having donated slightly more than four per cent.

Projecting the $28.5 million given by the interviewed corporations, the council estimates that total U. S. business contributions to education approximated $110 million in 1956, the last year for which complete tabulations have been made.

Education, with its huge facilities and large staffs of professional personnel, has become one of the major users of tax monies from the local and state government levels. Even the federal government has entered the picture. The privately supported institutions of higher learning, however, have no such salve for their similarly growing costs. They have but two sources of income: tuition and contributions.

Tuition costs have reached the point where many students find it necessary to finance their education, much the same as a home buyer floats a mortgage. Indeed, many educators have predicted this will be a common occurrence in years to come.

Contributions from both alumni and businesses have been increasing through the years, but inflated costs have eaten away much of this additional income. Growing population and continually increasing costs have forced many private colleges into a corner.

A renewed pledge by corporate and smaller businesses to underwrite a greater share of the coming generation's education is the only guarantee against further aid, and its accompanying regimentation, by government.

Meet Alf, Happy Dirty Man

By Hal Boyle

LONDON (AP) — It is entirely possible that Alf Riggs is the dirtiest man in London.

Alf, an amiable fellow of 47, peddles coal in hundredweight sacks for home heating. The price per sack is 10 shillings—$1.40.

A hundredweight, through some quirk rooted in British tradition, is not 10 pounds but 112 pounds. Selling coal in 112-pound batches may sound peculiar to Americans, but it is a logical way of doing things in Britain. For one thing, few British houses have basements. Most of the coal is burned slowly in open grates, and a hundredweight lasts quite a while.

"Some of the places my customers keep coal you wouldn't believe," Alf says. "They keep it in dog kennels, chicken coops, garages, outdoor metal bins, or even just piled on the ground in the open.

"Fact is, I have a few people who keep their coal in the bathtub so they won't have to go outside for it when the weather is bad. Actually, this makes it impossible for them to have a bath for months on end. I wouldn't be surprised if some of them are almost as dirty as I am."

Alf peddles his coal in a truck which will hold up to 70 hundredweight sacks. His working costume consists of a pair of old shoes, heavy pants, a shirt, vest, cap, blue bandanna tucked around his neck, and a large leather pad over his right shoulder.

Alf was asked whether he considers himself dirtier than his only conceivable rival — a chimney sweep.

"Chimney sweeps!" roared Alf. "Why, chimney sweeps aren't even in it with me. You take soot, it's a soft kind of dirt, like. But this bleeding coal dust is a hard dirt. It sticks in my scalp and under my fingernails, and around my eyes, and in the wrinkles on my face.

"Why, some nights it takes me and the old woman and our old iron washtub a good hour to get me fit for a trip to the pub for a pint of walop."

Mr. Nixon Says His Piece

By George Sokolsky

Since about 1942, no full dress debate on the foreign policy of the United States has taken place. Elections have come and gone and the silence was uniform, on the general assumption that we must have a bi-partisan foreign policy in order to give the impression to foreigners, particularly the Russians, that we were an absolutely unified people.

Such uniformity of thought has never existed. What did happen was that in time of actual war, even the most ardent isolationist served his country in defiance of his private judgment.

There has been considerable criticism of the Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, particularly among the pro-Russians and the pacifistic elements. This is satisfactory, provided the subject is debated. A whispering campaign such as came out of what is euphemistically called Wall Street in favor of recognizing Red China is not a debate; it is a propagandistic effort to create a public opinion damaging to the interests of the United States for private benefit.

For several years, cuch libels have been met with official silence on the assumption that to dignify falsehood is to give the appearance of recognizing its importance. The Vice President, Richard Nixon, is too robust to accept the notion that to ignore a falsehood is to establish its falsity. He has insisted that it is the function of government to tell the people the truth and he and President Eisenhower have taken to the hustings to proclaim the strength of their convictions.

Nixon distinguished between decision and policy and made the point that when a decision has been reached, a decision that could lead to war, there is danger in internal divisions because an enemy might take advantage of them. However, before the decision has been taken, while policies are being formulated, there ought to be freedom of discussion which could only aid in the formulation of a decision.

President Eisenhower seemed disinclined to this view and said that he, as President, would not reply to attacks. Nevertheless, Nixon said:

". . .for us who have the responsibility of carrying the weight of this campaign to stand by and to allow our policies to be attacked with impunity by our opponents without reply would lead to inevitable defeat. I intend to continue to answer the attacks of the responsible members of the opposition on our policy. I'm going to answer them factually. I'm going to answer them articulately and I hope effectively. . ."

His reasons for this view are:

". . .we are electing men who are going to make policy. And people are entitled to know whether a senator, for example, believes that Communist China should be admitted to the U.N. or that it should not be admitted. This ought to be debated. It should not be ruled out in a political campaign."

This is absolutely sound doctrine. It is a position that was adopted by many Americans during the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations. To this, the reply generally was, as Nixon says, let the record speak for itself. But we never knew the full record. Until the Wedemeyer report was published one hot summer night, we knew little of the machinations for turning China over to the Communists. The same can be said of many phases of our foreign decisions, some of which are not yet available.

Nixon said:

"One of the reasons the Republican Party is in trouble today is because over the past two years, particularly, we have allowed people to criticize our policies and we have not stood up and answered effectively. That's a mistake, not only in the field of foreign policy but in the field of domestic policy. I don't intend to make that mistake in this campaign and I'm going to continue . . . reciting the record of this administration, reciting the clams and the record of the previous administration, and letting the people take their choice. That's my view of a political campaign. . ."

Vice President Nixon is performing a great service by encouraging debate. There is not enough of this in American political life. I would, for instance, still like to know how we came to make such an error as supporting Nasser in the Suez Canal situation. That one ought to be brought into the open.

Perhaps Vice President Nixon's example will one day be followed by other public officials who will trust the American people to know what is happening to their country.

Guam Rocket Firing Postponed

GUAM (AP)—Firing of the first Guam-based weather probe rocket into space was postponed today until next week because of "damp" weather.

There was no explanation of how damp weather affected the mechanism.

The rocket first was scheduled to have been fired Monday.

Ten U.S. scientists have been working on the project for several weeks.

The rocket, a combination Nike-Cajun, is to be fired aloft to obtain wind and temperature data between 30,000 and 300,000 feet above the earth.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WHEN I LECTURED in Akron, O., I heard a story I liked very much. It concerned a young married woman who reminisced often about a teacher she had studied under and adored when she was 12.

One day her mother told her the beloved teacher had come back to town after several years on the West Coast. "Why don't you visit her?" urged the mother. "I'm sure she'll remember you."

The daughter did visit the teacher, and was delighted to learn her old charm and graciousness was unimpaired. Of course she had aged considerably, and worse still, had several jagged scars on her face.

"She's still wonderful," enthused the daughter when she next saw her mother, "but what a pity her old beauty is gone. She's all scarred today. Must have been in a serious accident."

"My dear girl," said her mother gently, "your teacher's face was always that way. You loved her so much you never noticed."

Doctors Should Explain

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

How many times have you come out of a doctor's office without actually knowing much about your illness? It happens to patients every day.

I realize how very busy doctors are these days, but a few minutes spent discussing symptoms and illness with a patient will help both the patient and the doctor.

In trying to keep up with their busy schedules, doctors might tend to forget this "vocal treatment." So it's up to you, the patient, to ask questions when you visit your physician for help.

Ask the doctor just how effective his therapy is expected to be, about how long the illness will last, and what effect it will have on your daily routine of living. Ask also for a simple explanation of your illness.

I don't want you to take up too much of the doctor's time, but you are entitled to know these things. He will help you if you give him half a chance.

That is why the doctor will want you to know about them, too, because it will help him treat you.

For one thing, explanations often eliminate misunderstandings and also a good deal of the anxiety that most patients experience. In addition, explanations serve to make the patient cooperate more fully with the physician. They provide the basis for a good physician-patient relationship.

If your trouble is heart disease, the doctor may explain your difficulty by comparing the heart to a water pump or an oil pump. I did that recently in one of my articles on heart disease and received some interesting responses.

Patients are also more likely to accept restrictions in physical activity and limitatons in the amount of salt consumption when the doctor takes time to point out the reasons for his orders and explains that such practices merely are common sense in cases of heart disease.

Diabetes especially presents a need for a thorough discussion between the doctor and the patient. To help control the condition satisfactorily, the patient must cooperate fully and follow the advice of his physician continually.

The patient must understand the nature of his disease, why a special diet is necessary and why use of insulin is important to obtain the best results.

J. B.: Is jaundice ever due to gallbladder disease?

A. A diseased gallbladder may produce stones that may block the flow of bile, causing a form of jaundice. This can usually be corrected by surgery.

Cardinal Mooney's Rites Due Friday

DETROIT (AP)—Edward Cardinal Mooney's body lay in state today in the Roman Catholic archdiocese where he was spiritual leader for 21 years.

The 76-year-old prelate died Saturday in Rome, where he was preparing to take part in the election of a successor to the late Pope Pius XII.

The body was returned to Detroit by airliner Monday. It will lie in state 3½ days, first at his residence and then at the Cathedral of the Blessed Sacrament.

Funeral services will be held Friday.

Car Travel

NEW YORK (AP)—Car travel play problems for the younger set are neatly solved with a game which ends the problem of losing pieces ingeniously by attaching the playing pieces firmly to the board by cords. The spill-proof car travel game board represents a highway marked by varied obstacles which habitually delay motorists. The object of play is to be the first to drive from one end of the route to the other.

Dear Editor,

We've been subscribers of The Circleville Herald for several years and believe it is a fine newspaper.

I'm writing an opinion about consolidation and the Logan Elm school district. In the first place, I do not believe that a few persons should take it upon themselves to try to make such a change of schools without every person in that community knowing just what is going on.

I feel that is exactly what happened in Clearcreek Twp. A few persons made a house to house canvass, carrying a petition and telling everyone how wonderful consolidation would be and many voters signed.

A few weeks later another petition came out to keep Stoutsville as is for a couple of years. Many persons who signed the first petition signed the latter one too which seems to me that people can be talked into just about anything.

Most persons carrying the first petitions were from in town or nearly so and have not had to ride a long bus route in the winter time. And that's no fun.

One gentleman from Pcikaway County said, "We can't think of transportation, only of education". That's a point, sure, but it's mostly country students who make up the schools in small towns and not many of them go on to college compared to city schools. And another thing, if a student really wants to be a doctor or nurse, or any other particular profession he will study to reach that goal and will not have to be told to do so.

The point where someone suggested hiring a teacher just to talk with freshmen to find out what they want to be seems ridiculous. If a student knows what he wants to be by his freshman year he will have a pretty good idea of the subjects he needs.

From persons who have attended large schools, I've heard that unless a boy or girl has a well-known family, they have very little chance for clubs, class plays, etc. Is that fair? And can't a teacher give a small class more attention than a larger one?

Also time and again we read about the boys who make stars on basketball and football teams. What's to be said about all of those who tried out and were good, but not good eough? They'd have had more chances in small schools. Maybe their team wouldn't have won as many games but participating and learning how to be a good sport is important.

If people from one county have to go to another county to school what's the use of even having counties.

Seems to me that if we are to keep on living in a "Free Country" a state board should not be able to tell us where we have to attend school.

The small high schools were good enough for our parents and most of them learned more than a lot of people attending larger schools.

Not too long ago, I read a small article; a student is not as big as his school, only as big as his teacher.

Television commercials keep urging young people to get into the teaching profession. If all small schools consolidate where would there be room for all of them.

I believe that learning should start at home and that such subjects as reading, writing and spelling should be stressed more strongly in all schools.

They say our population is growing too rapidly. If our farm lands are turned into school buildings and playgrounds how are we to produce food. As far as having food is concerned, as goes the country, so goes the city. (meaning that if the farmer doesn't have the land to raise food, the city slicker won't be eating.) And what does Logan Elm have to do with this? It's a beginning and if all other small schools follow the pattern it could be disastrous to farmers.

Hence, I feel that if a Logan Elm school must be built in Pickaway County, let the tax payers who vote for it—pay for it.

Clearcreek Twp. is in Fairfield County and I think it should be kept that way.

There are two sides to everything; I realize that, and education is important. But the kind of education people talk of nowadays is a lot of chemistry and such subjects which leads young people to exploring, mixing, and making homemade bombs which are often fatal.

This is just my opinion but I hope people will think twice before voting either way Nov. 4.

Sincerely,
Lois Hartranft

Hospital Chief Formally Fired

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Maumee Valley Hospital trustees Monday night fired Administrator John D. Swaggerty, effective next Friday.

Swaggerty is undergoing mental treatment in Toledo State Hospital.

In firing Swaggerty, the trustees of the Lucas County-operated hospital cited four grounds:

Inability to serve because of hospitalization; misuse of hospital funds; use of a development fund to repay hospital money drawn by Swaggerty for a purported speaking engagement in Canada; and improper establishment and use of funds transferred from one bank to another.

Additional Aid for Education

More corporations have become aware of the great need for privately donated funds for higher education, according to a report by the Council for Financial Aid to education. Not only is the direct aid to colleges and universities increasing, but it no longer carries as many stipulations as it once did.

Back in 1950, the average corporation was giving 21 per cent of its total philanthropic dollar to education, but by 1956 this percentage had increased to 34 per cent. Dollar volume during this period was increasing also, until by 1956 more than 60 U. S. corporations were donating more than $100,000 annually.

Generous as these sums may be, they fall far short of the five per cent of net income before taxes allowed by the Internal Revenue Service to be donated to educational institutions on a tax-free basis. Of 275 of the nation's largest business concerns, only 14 gave as much as one per cent of net income in 1956. None of these reached the maximum figure, the closest having donated slightly more than four per cent.

Projecting the $28.5 million given by the interviewed corporations, the council estimates that total U. S. business contributions to education approximated $110 million in 1956, the last year for which complete tabulations have been made.

Education, with its huge facilities and large staffs of professional personnel, has become one of the major users of tax monies from the local and state government levels. Even the federal government has entered the picture. The privately supported institutions of higher learning, however, have no such salve for their similarly growing costs. They have but two sources of income: tuition and contributions.

Tuition costs have reached the point where many students find it necessary to finance their education, much the same as a home buyer floats a mortgage. Indeed, many educators have predicted this will be a common occurrence in years to come.

Contributions from both alumni and businesses have been increasing through the years, but inflated costs have eaten away much of this additional income. Growing population and continually increasing costs have forced many private colleges into a corner.

A renewed pledge by corporate and smaller businesses to underwrite a greater share of the coming generation's education is the only guarantee against further aid, and its accompanying regimentation, by government.

Meet Alf, Happy Dirty Man

By Hal Boyle

LONDON (AP) — It is entirely possible that Alf Riggs is the dirtiest man in London.

Alf, an amiable fellow of 47, peddles coal in hundredweight sacks for home heating. The price per sack is 10 shillings—$1.40.

A hundredweight, through some quirk rooted in British tradition, is not 10 pounds but 112 pounds. Selling coal in 112-pound batches may sound peculiar to Americans, but it is a logical way of doing things in Britain. For one thing, few British houses have basements. Most of the coal is burned slowly in open grates, and a hundredweight lasts quite a while.

"Some of the places my customers keep coal you wouldn't believe," Alf says. "They keep it in dog kennels, chicken coops, garages, outdoor metal bins, or even just piled on the ground in the open.

"Fact is, I have a few people who keep their coal in the bathtub so they won't have to go outside for it when the weather is bad. Actually, this makes it impossible for them to have a bath for months on end. I wouldn't be surprised if some of them are almost as dirty as I am."

Alf peddles his coal in a truck which will hold up to 70 hundredweight sacks. His working costume consists of a pair of old shoes, heavy pants, a shirt, vest, cap, blue bandanna tucked around his neck, and a large leather pad over his right shoulder.

Alf was asked whether he considers himself dirtier than his only conceivable rival — a chimney sweep.

"Chimney sweeps!" roared Alf. "Why, chimney sweeps aren't even in it with me. You take soot, it's a soft kind of dirt, like. But this bleeding coal dust is a hard dirt. It sticks in my scalp and under my fingernails, and around my eyes, and in the wrinkles on my face.

"Why, some nights it takes me and the old woman and our old iron washtub a good hour to get me fit for a trip to the pub for a pint of walop."

Mr. Nixon Says His Piece

By George Sokolsky

Since about 1942, no full dress debate on the foreign policy of the United States has taken place. Elections have come and gone and the silence was uniform, on the general assumption that we must have a bi-partisan foreign policy in order to give the impression to foreigners, particularly the Russians, that we were an absolutely unified people.

Such uniformity of thought has never existed. What did happen was that in time of actual war, even the most ardent isolationist served his country in defiance of his private judgment.

There has been considerable criticism of the Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, particularly among the pro-Russians and the pacifistic elements. This is satisfactory, provided the subject is debated. A whispering campaign such as came out of what is euphemistically called Wall Street in favor of recognizing Red China is not a debate; it is a propagandistic effort to create a public opinion damaging to the interests of the United States for private benefit.

For several years, such libels have been met with official silence on the assumption that to dignify falsehood is to give the appearance of recognizing its importance. The Vice President, Richard Nixon, is too robust to accept the notion that to ignore a falsehood is to establish its falsity. He has insisted that it is the function of government to tell the people the truth and he and President Eisenhower have taken to the hustings to proclaim the strength of their convictions.

Nixon distinguished between decision and policy and made the point that when a decision has been reached, a decision that could lead to war, there is danger in internal divisions because an enemy might take advantage of them. However, before the decision has been taken, while policies are being formulated, there ought to be freedom of discussion which could only aid in the formulation of a decision.

President Eisenhower seemed disinclined to this view and said that he, as President, would not reply to attacks. Nevertheless, Nixon said:

". . .for us who have the responsibility of carrying the weight of this campaign to stand by and to allow our policies to be attacked with impunity by our opponents without reply would lead to inevitable defeat. I intend to continue to answer the attacks of the responsible members of the opposition on our policy. I'm going to answer them factually. I'm going to answer them articulately and I hope effectively. . ."

His reasons for this view are:

". . .we are electing men who are going to make policy. And people are entitled to know whether a senator, for example, believes that Communist China should be admitted to the U.N. or that it should not be admitted. This ought to be debated. It should not be ruled out in a political campaign."

This is absolutely sound doctrine. It is a position that was adopted by many Americans during the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations. To this, the reply generally was, as Nixon says, let the record speak for itself. But we never knew the full record. Until the Wedemeyer report was published one hot summer night, we knew little of the machinations for turning China over to the Communists. The same can be said of many phases of our foreign decisions, some of which are not yet available.

Nixon said:

"One of the reasons the Republican Party is in trouble today is because over the past two years, particularly, we have allowed people to criticize our policies and we have not stood up and answered effectively. That's a mistake, not only in the field of foreign policy but in the field of domestic policy. I don't intend to make that mistake in this campaign and I'm going to continue . . . reciting the record of this administration, reciting the clams and the record of the previous administration, and letting the people take their choice. That's my view of a political campaign. . ."

Vice President Nixon is performing a great service by encouraging debate. There is not enough of this in American political life. I would, for instance, still like to know how we came to make such an error as supporting Nasser in the Suez Canal situation. That one ought to be brought into the open.

Perhaps Vice President Nixon's example will one day be followed by other public officials who will trust the American people to know what is happening to their country.

Guam Rocket Firing Postponed

GUAM (AP)—Firing of the first Guam-based weather probe rocket into space was postponed today until next week because of "damp" weather.

There was no explanation of how damp weather affected the mechanism.

The rocket first was scheduled to have been fired Monday.

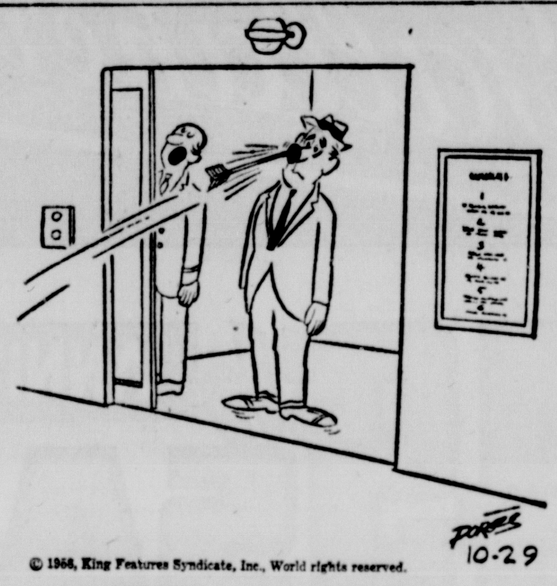

Ten U.S. scientists have been working on the project for several weeks.

The rocket, a combination Nike-Cajun, is to be fired aloft to obtain wind and temperature data between 30,000 and 300,000 feet above the earth.

Today more than seven million people speak Esperanto in 47 different countries. Esperanto is the language designed so that all nationalities can communicate in a common language.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WHEN I LECTURED in Akron, O., I heard a story I liked very much. It concerned a young married woman who reminisced often about a teacher she had studied under and adored when she was 12. One day her mother told her the beloved teacher had come back to town after several years on the West Coast. "Why don't you visit her?" urged the mother. "I'm sure she'll remember you."

The daughter did visit the teacher, and was delighted to learn her old charm and graciousness was unimpaired. Of course she had aged considerably, and worse still, had several jagged scars on her face.

"She's still wonderful," enthused the daughter when she next saw her mother, "but what a pity her old beauty is gone. She's all scarred today. Must have been in a serious accident."

"My dear girl," said her mother gently, "your teacher's face was always that way. You loved her so much you never noticed."

Doctors Should Explain

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

How many times have you come out of a doctor's office without actually knowing much about your illness? It happens to patients every day.

I realize how very busy doctors are these days, but a few minutes spent discussing symptoms and illness with a patient will help both the patient and the doctor.

In trying to keep up with their busy schedules, doctors might tend to forget this "vocal treatment." So it's up to you, the patient, to ask questions when you visit your physician for help.

Ask the doctor just how effective his therapy is expected to be, about how long the illness will last, and what effect it will have on your daily routine of living. Ask also for a simple explanation of your illness.

I don't want you to take up too much of the doctor's time, but you are entitled to know these things. He will help you if you give him half a chance.

That is why the doctor will want you to know about them, too, because it will help him treat you.

For one thing, explanations often eliminate misunderstandings and also a good deal of the anxiety that most patients experience. In addition, explanations serve to make the patient cooperate more fully with the physician. They provide the basis for a good physician-patient relationship.

If your trouble is heart disease, the doctor may explain your difficulty by comparing the heart to a water pump or an oil pump. I did that recently in one of my articles on heart disease and received some interesting responses.

Patients are also more likely to accept restrictions in physical activity and limitatons in the amount of salt consumption when the doctor takes time to point out the reasons for his orders and explains that such practices merely are common sense in cases of heart disease.

Diabetes especially presents a need for a thorough discussion between the doctor and the patient. To help control the condition satisfactorily, the patient must cooperate fully and follow the advice of his physician continually.

The patient must understand the nature of his disease, why a special diet is necessary and why use of insulin is important to obtain the best results.

A. A diseased gallbladder may produce stones that may block the flow of bile, causing a form of jaundice. This can usually be corrected by surgery.

Cardinal Mooney's Rites Due Friday

DETROIT (AP)—Edward Cardinal Mooney's body lay in state today in the Roman Catholic archdiocese where he was spiritual leader for 21 years.

The 76-year-old prelate died Saturday in Rome, where he was preparing to take part in the election of a successor to the late Pope Pius XII.

The body was returned to Detroit by airliner Monday. It will lie in state 3½ days, first at his residence and then at the Cathedral of the Blessed Sacrament.

Funeral services will be held Friday.

Car Travel

NEW YORK (AP)—Car travel play priblems for the younger set are neatly solved with a game which ends the problem of losing pieces ingeniously by attaching the playing pieces firmly to the board by cords. The spill-proof car travel game board represents a highway marked by varied obstacles which habitually delay motorists. The object of play is to be the first to drive from one end of the route to the other.

Dear Editor,

We've been subscribers of The Circleville Herald for several years and believe it is a fine newspaper.

I'm writing an opinion about consolidation and the Logan Elm school district. In the first place, I do not believe that a few persons should take it upon themselves to try to make such a change of schools without every person in that community knowing just what is going on.

I feel that is exactly what happened in Clearcreek Twp. A few persons made a house to house canvass, carrying a petition and telling everyone how wonderful consolidation would be and many voters signed.

A few weeks later another petition came out to keep Stoutsville as is for a couple of years. Many persons who signed the first petition signed the latter one too which seems to me that people can be talked into just about anything.

Most persons carrying the first petitions were from in town or nearly so and have not had to ride a long bus route in the winter time. And that's no fun.

One gentleman from Pckaway County said, "We can't think of transportation, only of education". That's a point, sure, but it's mostly country students who make up the schools in small towns and not many of them go on to college compared to city schools. And another thing, if a student really wants to be a doctor or nurse, or any other particular profession he will study to reach that goal and will not have to be told to do so.

The point where someone suggested hiring a teacher just to talk with freshmen to find out what they want to be seems ridiculous. If a student knows what he wants to be by his freshman year he will have a pretty good idea of the subjects he needs.

From persons who have attended large schools, I've heard that unless a boy or girl has a well-known family, they have very little chance for clubs, class plays, etc. Is that fair? And can't a teacher give a small class more attention than a larger one?

Also time and again we read about the boys who make stars on basketball and football teams. What's to be said about all of those who tried out and were good, but not good eough? They'd have had more chances in small schools. Maybe their team wouldn't have won as many games but participating and learning how to be a good sport is important.

If people from one county have to go to another county to school what's the use of even having counties.

Seems to me that if we are to keep on living in a "Free Country" a state board should not be able to tell us where we have to attend school.

The small high schools were good enough for our parents and most of them learned more than a lot of people attending larger schools.

Not too long ago, I read a small article; a student is not as big as his school, only as big as his teacher.

Television commercials keep urging young people to get into the teaching profession. If all small schools consolidate where would there be room for all of them.

I believe that learning should start at home and that such subjects as reading, writing and spelling should be stressed more strongly in all schools.

They say our population is growing too rapidly. If our farm lands are turned into school buildings and playgrounds how are we to produce food. As far as having food is concerned, as goes the country, so goes the city. (meaning that if the farmer doesn't have the land to raise food, the city slicker won't be eating.) And what does Logan Elm have to do with this? It's a beginning and if all other small schools follow the pattern it could be disastrous to farmers.

Hence, I feel that if a Logan Elm school must be built in Pickaway County, let the tax payers who vote for it—pay for it.

Clearcreek Twp. is in Fairfield County and I think it should be kept that way.

There are two sides to everything; I realize that, and education is important. But the kind of education people talk of nowadays is a lot of chemistry and such subjects which leads young people to exploring, mixing, and making homemade bombs which are often fatal.

This is just my opinion but I hope people will think twice before voting either way Nov. 4.

Sincerely,
Lois Hartranft

Hospital Chief Formally Fired

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Maumee Valley Hospital trustees Monday night fired Administrator John D. Swaggerty, effective next Friday.

Swaggerty is undergoing mental treatment in Toledo State Hospital.

In firing Swaggerty, the trustees of the Lucas County-operated hospital cited four grounds:

Inability to serve because of hospitalization; misuse of hospital funds; use of a development fund to repay hospital money drawn by Swaggerty for a purported speaking engagement in Canada; and improper establishment and use of funds transferred from one bank to another.

Ferguson, Tracy Vie for Treasurer

This is another in a series of stories dealing with the upcoming election. Information on candidates and issues is given to help voters make informed decisions when they enter the voting booth.

Perennial candidate for an Ohio state office, Democrat Joseph T Ferguson, is again on the political scene in the role of the challenger for the state treasurer's office. He meets incumbent, Roger W. Tracy, Republican.

It is the responsibility of the state treasurer to receive state revenue and pay out funds on warrants issued by the State Auditor. He is to collect sales tax from vendors and turn money collected back to political subdivisions.

Ferguson, 65, Columbus, is a graduate of St. Mary's Commercial High School, Shawnee. He has also studied a correspondence course in accounting.

In 1914 he was appointed payroll auditor for the Ohio Industrial Commission. Later he was transferred to the Auditor of State as State Examiner of city and public-owned utilities accounts.

Roger W. Tracy

* * *

FERGUSON was elected state auditor in 1936 and was re-elected in 1940-44-48. He has worked for a firm of certified public accountants and was auditor for the state Division of Securities.

He is married and the father of nine children and 22 grandchildren. Ferguson is also past president and secretary of the National Assn. of State Auditors, Comptrollers and State Treasurers.

Tracy was born in Columbus, Jan. 20, 1903. He received his early education in the Columbus public schools, and then attended Miami University. Subsequently he entered Ohio State University where in 1926 he received a degree in business administration and accounting.

Tracy saw service as an examiner in the state auditor's office, a period as director of finance for the Cleveland Heights Public Schools, an institutional examiner for the State Welfare Department, as cost analyst for the U. S. Army Signal Corps and as secretary of the Police and Firemen's Pension Program.

The broad expanse of operations of the State Treasurer's office is depicted by the fact that for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1957, total transactions nearly reached the two and one-half billion dollar mark. This included receipts of $1,250,755,883, and disbursements of $1,238,567,565.

In addition to handling the investment accounts for the various retirement systems, the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation and the Highway Patrol, the Treasurer is charged with the administration of a huge bond account.

* * *

THIS INCLUDES the $500,000,000 major thoroughfare construction program, of which $282,000,000 in bonds already have been issued; the $212,500,000 in soldier bonus bonds arising from the second world war; the $150,000,000 bond issue authorized for public works including the mental hygiene construction program, and the $60,000,000 Korean bonus bonds.

Other activities include the administration of bond accounts in excess of $200,000,000; the distribution of approximately $78,000,000 in inactive accounts to the 451 banks of the state upon competitive bidding, and the processing of an average of 70,000 warrants per day.

Tracy maintains a keen interest in Ohio State athletics, his college fraternity of Sigma Chi, Varsity "O", the University Club, Masonic organizations, the Elks and the Moose.

Rare Fish Eagle Reported Missing

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — A rare African fish eagle, said by its owner to be the only one of its kind ever brought to this country, has escaped.

The big bird with a seven-foot wingspread apparently broke a leather strap attached to its leg and took off while its owner, James Fowler, was out of town last week.

Fowler appealed to the public not to shoot the eagle, which he said is completely harmless. He offered a reward for its return.

Fowler said the eagle has a white head with brown and white wing and body feathers. He snared the bird early this year while in South Africa on a location expedition for an American film company.

Nudity Is Now Being Filmed In Hollywood (for Export)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — For virtually the first time since the Roaring 20s, nudity is being filmed on the Hollywood movie stages.

But seekers of the sensational won't be able to see Hollywood's answer to Brigitte Bardot. The results are strictly for overseas consumption.

Nudity is a recent revival in the movie capital, and it may well have been prompted by the clothes-hating BB, plus the exposures in Italian, Swedish and other films. The trend is frowned upon by most industry leaders, who are steering clear of it.

The industry's censorship code contains this section:

"Compete nudity, in fact or silhouette, is never permitted, nor shall there be any licentious notice by characters in the film of suggested nudity."

The industry leaders feel there should be only one version of Hollywood films: those adhering to the code. But some independent producers are seeking a double standard, with a souped-up version for foreign audiences.

"We can't compete with the French and Italian films unless we give them more realism overseas," argues Al Zugsmith.

He's attempting it in three films he has made independently for MGM. Jody Fair appears stripped to the waist in the foreign version of "High School Confidential." Bobi Byrnes does the same in "Night of the Quarter Moon" and "The Beat Generation."

"I hope some day we will be able to do the same in domestic versions," the producer said. "We are shackled here by many rules that are archaic."

An inside source reports that the Motion Picture Export Assn., which controls foreign distribution of major studio films, is cracking down on such exposure. The source reported:

"We feel that modesty is the best policy in the long run. Brigitte Bardot can have a vogue for a while and then will disappear. She's just one little French girl. But if we started exposing our Marilyn Monroes and Jayne Mansfields and 30 other stars, we'd end up paying for it.

"We've had success in getting rid of censorship boards in all but four states now, and only one—New York — is effective. The states would be glad to start their boards up again, because they get revenue from us for reviewing pictures. The Bardot pictures have already given them some ammuniton. We don't want to give them more."

Ferguson, Tracy Vie for Treasurer

This is another in a series of stories dealing with the upcoming election. Information on candidates and issues is given to help voters make informed decisions when they enter the voting booth.

Perennial candidate for an Ohio state office, Democrat Joseph T. Ferguson, is again on the political scene in the role of the challenger for the state treasurer's office. He meets incumbent, Roger W. Tracy, Republican.

It is the responsibility of the state treasurer to receive state revenue and pay out funds on warrants issued by the State Auditor. He is to collect sales tax from vendors and turn money collected back to political subdivisions.

Ferguson, 65, Columbus, is a graduate of St. Mary's Commercial High School, Shawnee. He has also studied a correspondence course in accounting.

In 1914 he was appointed payroll auditor for the Ohio Industrial Commission. Later he was transferred to the Auditor of State as State Examiner of city and public-owned utilities accounts.

Roger W. Tracy

* * *

FERGUSON was elected state auditor in 1936 and was re-elected in 1940-44-48. He has worked for a firm of certified public accountants and was auditor for the state Division of Securities.

He is married and the father of nine children and 22 grandchildren. Ferguson is also past president and secretary of the National Assn. of State Auditors, Comptrollers and State Treasurers.

Tracy was born in Columbus, Jan. 20, 1903. He received his early education in the Columbus public schools, and then attended Miami University. Subsequently he entered Ohio State University where in 1926 he received a degree in business administration and accounting.

Tracy saw service as an examiner in the state auditor's office, a period as director of finance for the Cleveland Heights Public Schools, an institutional examiner for the State Welfare Department, as cost analyst for the U. S. Army Signal Corps and as secretary of the Police and Firemen's Pension Program.

The broad expanse of operations of the State Treasurer's office is depicted by the fact that for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1957, total transactions nearly reached the two and one-half billion dollar mark. This included receipts of $1,250,755,883, and disbursements of $1,238,567,565.

In addition to handling the investment accounts for the various retirement systems, the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation and the Highway Patrol, the Treasurer is charged with the administration of a huge bond account.

* * *

THIS INCLUDES the $500,000,000 major thoroughfare construction program, of which $282,000,000 in bonds already have been issued; the $212,500,000 in soldier bonus bonds arising from the second world war; the $150,000,000 bond issue authorized for public works including the mental hygiene construction program, and the $60,000,000 Korean bonus bonds.

Other activities include the administration of bond accounts in excess of $200,000,000; the distribution of approximately $78,000,000 in inactive accounts to the 451 banks of the state upon competitive bidding, and the processing of an average of 70,000 warrants per day.

Tracy maintains a keen interest in Ohio State athletics, his college fraternity of Sigma Chi, Varsity "O", the University Club, Masonic organizations, the Elks and the Moose.

Herman Melville, author of the classic sea tale, "Moby Dick," was born in New York City.

Rare Fish Eagle Reported Missing

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — A rare African fish eagle, said by its owner to be the only one of its kind ever brought to this country, has escaped.

The big bird with a seven-foot wingspread apparently broke a leather strap attached to its leg and took off while its owner, James Fowler, was out of town last week.

Fowler appealed to the public not to shoot the eagle, which he said is completely harmless. He offered a reward for its return.

Fowler said the eagle has a white head with brown and white wing and body feathers. He snared the bird early this year while in South Africa on a location expedition for an American film company.

Nudity Is Now Being Filmed In Hollywood (for Export)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — For virtually the first time since the Roaring 20s, nudity is being filmed on the Hollywood movie stages.

But seekers of the sensational won't be able to see Hollywood's answer to Brigitte Bardot. The results are strictly for overseas consumption.

Nudity is a recent revival in the movie capital, and it may well have been prompted by the clothes-hating BB, plus the exposures in Italian, Swedish and other films. The trend is frowned upon by most industry leaders, who are steering clear of it.

The industry's censorship code contains this section:

"Compete nudity, in fact or silhouette, is never permitted, nor shall there be any licentious notice by characters in the film of suggested nudity."

The industry leaders feel there should be only one version of Hollywood films: those adhering to the code. But some independent producers are seeking a double standard, with a souped-up version for foreign audiences.

"We can't compete with the French and Italian films unless we give them more realism overseas," argues Al Zugsmith.

He's attempting it in three films he has made independently for MGM. Jody Fair appears stripped to the waist in the foreign version of "High School Confidential." Bobi Byrnes does the same in "Night of the Quarter Moon" and "The Beat Generation."

"I hope some day we will be able to do the same in domestic versions," the producer said. "We are shackled here by many rules that are archaic."

An inside source reports that the Motion Picture Export Assn., which controls foreign distribution of major studio films, is cracking down on such exposure. The source reported:

"We feel that modesty is the best policy in the long run. Brigitte Bardot can have a vogue for a while and then will disappear. She's just one little French girl. But if we started exposing our Marilyn Monroes and Jayne Mansfields and 30 other stars, we'd end up paying for it.

"We've had success in getting rid of censorship boards in all but four states now, and only one—New York — is effective. The states would be glad to start their boards up again, because they get revenue from us for reviewing pictures. The Bardot pictures have already given them some ammuniton. We don't want to give them more."

Woman Kills Son, 10, Self, Spares Daughter

CINCINNATI (AP)—County police said an Anderson Township woman, despondent after a recent operation, apparently shot and killed her son and took her own life Monday. She spared her young daughter. Officers said Charles E. Chapman, an engineer, returned from work to find the bodies of his wife, Marjorie, 33, and son, Daniel, 10.

Center Near Opening

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Funds have been provided to hire a complete staff of psychiatrists, physicials and psychologists for the Cleveland Regional Treatment Center, Gov. C. William O'Neill said Monday. The Cleveland center soon will be equipped and staffed to provide treatment for the mentaly ill, O'Neill added.

Social Happenings

A CANDY THERMOMETER is handy for testing doneness of syrup for apples-on-a-stick and other treats for Halloween.

Easy-to-Make Fun Foods For Halloween Parties

From teen-agers down to tots, Halloween spells excitement and fun foods for informal parties. Several of these may be combined into a menu something like the following:

Halloween Party Refreshments
Toasted Deviled Cheese Sandwiches
Pickles Celery Olives
Trays of Doughnuts and Popcorn Balls
Apples-on-a-Stick
Cider Punch

• • •

APPLES-ON-A-STICK: Wash and dry 8 medium-sized red apples. Remove stems and insert small wooden skewer in each.

Make a dipping syrup.

To do this, combine 3 c. sugar, ½ c. water, ½ c. light corn syrup and 1 tsp. red vegetable coloring in top of double boiler.

Stir-cook over medium heat until boiling. Then cook without stirring until ½ tsp., dropped in ice cold water, separates into threads which are hard but not brittle (285 deg. F. by the candy thermometer).

Add 2 drops oil of cinnamon and stir lightly.

To Dip Apples: Set hot syrup over hot water. Hold each apple by skewer and quickly twirl in syrup. Remove apple and let excess syrup drip off. Then twirl again (without re-dipping) to spread syrup smoothly over apple.

Cool on lightly buttered cookie sheet. Store in cool place.

• • •

CIDER PUNCH: Dissolve ½ c. sugar in ½ c. sweet cider; bring to boiling point. Combine with 3 c. cider, 1 pt. canned pineapple juce and ½ c. each fresh lemon juice and orange juice.

Chill several hours. Just before serving, add 1 qt. chilled soda water.

Makes 40 punch cups.

Robert Seward and T. K. Owens were the guest speakers for the American Assn. of University Women when it met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Carl Heffelfinger, Knollwood Village.

Seward, general supervisor of the Pickaway County Schools, explained to the group the tax levy and bond issue up for vote in the November 4 election.

Owens, of the state department of mental hygiene, gave a talk about the causes for retarted children and what is being done about it. He said plans were in the making for a class room for retarted children in Pickaway County.

Other guests for the evening were Miss Mary Jo Gaskalla, Mrs. William Huber, Mrs. Norman Jones, Mrs. Walter Ehmling, Mrs. Ransom and Mrs. John Griffith.

The next meeting will be held November 24 in the home of Mrs. Clifford Bowser, Williamsport. The guest speaker will be a foreign student from Ceylon.

Mrs. Reicheldorfer Speaker for Club

"A Nation Pays Tribute" is the subject Mrs. Ione Reicheldorfer will present to the Monday Club when it meets in the trustee room of the Memorial Hall at 8 p. m. Monday.

Special music will be presented by Mrs. Theodore L. Huston, Mrs. James P. Moffitt, Mrs. James Reicheldorfer and Mrs. Milford Tassler.

Miss Richards Becomes Bride of Mr. Lantz Sunday

Miss Marilyn Kay Richards and Mr. Harry Allen Lantz were martied Sunday evening, in the Clarksburg Methodist Church. Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. DeLoss Smith.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Richards of Clarksburg and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lantz of Columbus.

Mr. Willis Cleary, organist, presented a program of nuptial music for the families and close friends preceding the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white lace over net styled with a boat neckline, long sleeves and a full skirt. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a crown of pearls. White net mitts completed her costume. She carried a white prayer book topped with a yellow-throated white orchid.

Her sister, Mrs. Richard Giffin, was matron of honor. Her white and pink nylon dress featured a fitted bodice and a full skirt. She wore elbow-length white mitts dotted with rhinestones. Pink carnations fashioned her corsage.

Mr. Joe Smith of Columbus was best man.

The bride's mother was dressed in blue with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Lantz chose a blue print with which she combined a white hat and a shoulder corsage of pink rosebuds.

A reception was given in the church dining room. The table was centered with a three-tiered cake topped with a miniature bridal couple. Heather and pink carnations encircled the base of the cake, which was flanked with white tapers in three-branch crystal candelabras.

Mrs. Giffin presided at the punch bowl. Others assisting were Mrs. Don Ferguson, Chillicothe, Mrs. Robert Templin, Columbus, and Miss Ann Richards, Clarksburg.

The bride is a 1956 graduate of Clarksburg High School and is employed as a nurse at Children's Hospital, Columbus.

Mr. Lantz was graduated from Columbus West High School in 1955 and is employed by Baker and Hickey Construction Co. in that city.

The couple is residing at 555 Greenlawn Ave., Columbus.

Mrs. Wills Elected President Of Trinity Lutheran Women

The annual Thankoffering ingathering of the Trinity Lutheran Women of the Church was held in the parish house at 7:30 p. m. last night. Miss Doris Schreiner, Thankoffering chairman for 1958, arranged the program. She was assisted by Mrs. Dudley Carpenter, Mrs. Grace Walters, Mrs. Cliff Reichelderfer, Mrs. Gladden Troutman, and the Rev. Carl Zehner.

Mrs. Velma Eberly, president, conducted a short business meeting, including election of officers. The candidates were presented by Mrs. Chris Schwarz, chairman of the nominating committee.

The following are the newly elected officers for 1959: president, Mrs. Robert Wills, 1st vice-president, Mrs. Russell Skaggs; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. John Adler, Mrs. James R. Franklin, secretary, and Mrs. Paul Brown, treasurer.

The Circles were also divided for 1959 and the new chairmen are: Circle No. 1—Mrs. Ed Wolf, chairman and Mrs. Myrtle Wolf, co-chairman; Circle No. 2 — Mrs. Ira Harrington, chairman and Mrs. Fritz Sieverts, co-chairman; Circle No. 3—Mrs. Dudley Carpenter, chairman and Mrs. Luther Bower, co-chairman.

Circle No. 4 — Mrs. Richard Penn, chairman and Mrs. Luther List, co-chairman; Circle No. 5 — Mrs. Alice Sensenbrenner, chairman and Mrs. John Minke, co-chairman; Circle No. 6 — Mrs. Martha Beck, chairman and Mrs. Walter Pickel, co-chairman.

A skit was presented by Mrs. James Franklin, Mrs. Charles Walters and Mrs. Merton Lorentz. The scene took place on the Pennsylvania train between Chicago and Columbus, as the ladies were on their way home from the Women's Missionary Federation Convention in Denver, Colorado in September. The conversation on the train gave the audience the report on the convention in a painless manner.

At the close of the meeting the group enjoyed a social hour. Refreshments in a Halloween theme were served by Circle No. 5 with Mrs. John Minke, chairman.

Willing Workers View Slides of Hawaiian Isles

The Willing Workers Bible Class of the Pontius EUB Church met in the home of Mrs. Sterley Croman, Route 4, last week.

The meeting opened with a poem by the president, Mrs. Larry Goodman. Devotions were given by Mrs. Creaton Kraft. She chose as her theme "love", and took the scripture lesson from I John 4:12-19. The group sang "Love Lifted Me," followed by two readings, "Should I Forget" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The class motto was read by the president and the devotions closed with the group singing the theme song "Leaning on the Everlasting Arms."

The president presided over the business meeting. Roll call was answered by 14 members and seven visitors. The group made plans for the Christmas meeting to be a banquet. The time and place will be announced later.

A nominating committee was named to present a slate of officers at the next meeting. Members of the committee are Mrs. Goodman, Mrs. Turney Kraft and Mrs. Ethel Klingensmith.

During the social hour, colored slides of Hawaii, taken by the Croman's on their recent trip to Hawaiian Island, were presented by Mrs. Croman. She gave a travelogue along with the slides.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Hazel Bowman and Mrs. Cleo Stockman, E. Franklin St., on November 20.

Social Hour Plans Halloween Party

The Social Hour Group of the Five Points Methodist Church will hold a Halloween party at 7 p. m. Friday in the church basement. The youth will serve as hosts for the evening.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the difficult jobs of housekeeping is to wax linoleum and asphalt tile floors. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it's no longer necessary to wax and scrub; just apply Glaxo about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor.

Easy-to-Make Fun Foods For Halloween Parties

From teen-agers down to tots, Halloween spells excitement and fun foods for informal parties. Several of these may be combined into a menu something like the following:

Halloween Party Refreshments
Toasted Deviled Cheese Sandwiches
Pickles Celery Olives
Trays of Doughnuts and Popcorn Balls
Apples-on-a-Stick
Cider Punch

* * *

APPLES-ON-A-STICK: Wash and dry 8 medium-sized red apples. Remove stems and insert small wooden skewer in each.

Make a dipping syrup.

To do this, combine 3 c. sugar, ½ c. water, ½ c. light corn syrup and 1 tsp. red vegetable coloring in top of double boiler.

Stir-cook over medium heat until boiling. Then cook without stirring until ½ tsp., dropped in ice cold water, separates into threads which are hard but not brittle (285 deg. F. by the candy thermometer).

Add 2 drops oil of cinnamon and stir lightly.

To Dip Apples: Set hot syrup over hot water. Hold each apple by skewer and quickly twirl in syrup. Remove apple and let excess syrup drip off. Then twirl again (without re-dipping) to spread syrup smoothly over apple.

Cool on lightly buttered cookie sheet. Store in cool place.

* * *

CIDER PUNCH: Dissolve ½ c. sugar in ½ c. sweet cider; bring to boiling point. Combine with 3 c. cider, 1 pt. canned pineapple juce and ½ c. each fresh lemon juice and orange juice.

Chill several hours. Just before serving, add 1 qt. chilled soda water.

Makes 40 punch cups.

Area School News

Pickaway Twp.

At the present time one of the most important issues is whether or not the bond issue and operating levy for the Logan Elm School District will be passed by the voters Tuesday.

The students at Pickaway have shown their interest in the matter by entering a poster contest sponsored by the Citizen's Tax Levy Committee.

Purpose of the contest is to help promote an understanding of the operating levy and bond issue.

The high school winner was Anne Smith. In the grades, the overall winner was Valerie May, a fourth grader.

WINNERS, according to grades, were: fourth grade — first, Scott Wilson, honorable mention — Paul Stevens and Tommy Smith; fifth grade—first, Willis Lowery, honorable mention—Mary Belle Kreisel; Sixth grade—first, Pam Miller, honorable mention — Anita Moats; seventh and eighth grade — first, Marly Luton.

For the first time since 1952, Pickaway is organizing a band. This year it will be a concert band. The switch from orchestra music to band music was due to a reduced string section.

The editorial and advertising staff of the Pirate Blade, the school newspaper, is as follows: Editor—Nancy Wilson; assistant editor—Patty Hockman; art — Janet Grissom;

Features—Jane Bayes and Donna Spiller; sports — Dale Wolfe and Dwight Newhouse; class reporters —grades, Geneva Lauerman, junior high, Janey Hockman, senior high, Janice Umsted;

Gossip—Doris Azbell; typists — Miss Bayes, Miss Spiller and Beverly McKenzie; machine operators —Dave Petty and Jerry Anderson; mailing—Joyce Miller; advisor — Mrs. Marcus Albright.

THE FIRST GRADE has 28 boys and girls in its class this year. The students are getting along fine and have just finished their first Pre-primer.

The second grade has an enrollment of 25, of which 17 are girls and eight boys. They have been studying weeds in science, mounting specimens of various weeds and watching them bloom.

In water painting, the second graders have learned to blend colors, then cut out leaves from this paper.

There are 15 girls and 12 boys in the third grade. The girls had perfect attendance for the last six weeks of school and the boys had only four days of absence.

They are drawing murals, showing scenes of Circleville. The 3rd graders' terarium is creating much interest as it is fun to watch the toads and preying mantis live.

The fourth grade has an enrollment of 19 boys and 12 girls. They have just begun to study history this year. To celebrate Columbus Day, Paul Stephens, Alan Gabriel and Tommy Smith read stories on Columbus.

THERE ARE 21 boys and 16 girls in the fifth grade. Their first six weeks has been spent in reviewing.

In the sixth grade, 29 of the 33 pupils enrolled had 100 per cent attendance for the first six weeks. The new subject this year is science. They have made an aquarium and are now erecting a desert terrarium.

The seventh grade officers for the 1958-59 school year are Denny Ramsey, president; Marly Luton, vice president; Barbara Dudleson, treasurer, and Card Davis, secretary and news reporter.

Sharon Lauerman recently was elected president of the eighth grade. Other officers are Charles McKenzie, vice president; Sue Courtright, secretary and news reporter, and Carol Ginther, treasurer. The class will have a Halloween party on Thursday.

Maurice Jackson, Columbus radio disk jockey on WTVN, is coming to Pickaway to be in charge of a record hop on December 6. The sophomores hope to see you there.

The Pickaway Junior Carnival will be held soon.

EVERYTHING from salt shakers to toys are being sold by the seniors. For Christmas cards, fruitcakes or mints, please contact any senior.

Pickaway's candidate for Miss Pumpkin Show of 1958 was Juanita Hinton, an attractive 18-year-old senior.

Her brown hair, which has a definite reddish cast, was fixed in a page boy. She wore a black and white wool tweed suit with black accessories. Juanita was among the 10 finalists for Miss Pumpkin Show.

Little Miss Pickaway was Twana Moats, a charming six-year-old with light brown hair of medium length and blue eyes.

For the contest, Twana wore a blue plaid skirt and blue sweater, the color of her eyes. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moats.

Though neither girl placed in the top three, Pickaway was well represented in both contests.

This summer Joan Ginther, Beverley McKenzie and Nancy Wilson arrived at Ohio University, Athens, where the second Ohio Student Council Workshop was to be held.

AFTER registering at the Student Union, the group proceeded to Voigt Hall, where they resided during the week.

They were divided into seven groups of about 25 in each group. At the first assembly each chose a name, wrote a song, chose colors, and made up a cheer for their council.

Each day there were two council meetings—one in the morning and one in the afternoon. At the morning assembly their speaker, Gerald Van Pool, Assistant Secretary for Student Activities, Washington, D. C. summed up the topic for discussion. Some of the discussion topics were: aims and objectives, problems, projects and evaluation.

At the afternoon assembly, one council gave a report in the way of a skit, straight report, or panel on the problem discussed the preceding morning. Following these reports the councils met again to discuss plans for Talent Night and banquet.

One of the highlights of the workshop was each councils' presentation of culminating skits. These were skits written by the councils on the success of the workshop.

New students at the Pickaway School are: Second grade—Danny Darst, Marlene Phillips, Darla Sparks and Harry Parker; Third grade—Dennis Hulse;

FOURTH GRADE — Barbara McCain, Donna Parker, Barbara Horsley, Bruce Neff and David Parker; Fifth grade—David Mitchell, Michael Bailey, Leslie Reno, Terry Darst, Pat Darst, Willis Lowery and Sandra Ramey;

Sixth grade—Jerry Buck, Loretta Lowery, Roger Parker and Cheryl Hulse; Seventh grade—Joe Horsley and Charles Parker;

Eighth grade — Marilyn Moore, Celia Lowery and Gary Horsley;

Sophomores — Charlie Chapman, Eugene Dean, Jim Drumm, Jim Hinton, William Huffer, Larry Williams, Sandra Buck, Betty Conrad, Clara Duey, Sharon Neff, Betty Parker and Kaye Seyfang;

Juniors—Dorothy Huffer, Nancy Huffer, Mary Streber and Harold Bolen;

Seniors — Janet Weaver, Wilma Weaver, Rosemary Lowery, Juanita Hinton, Toni Agin, Charlie Adkins and Mary Kaye Woods.

Chosen to lead the Pickaway ball fans this year for varsity basketball and football were Doris Azbell, Janet Grissom, Patty Moats, Janet Search and Nancy Wilson.

THE RESERVE Basketball cheerleaders are Janet Bower, Sharon Sharrett and Ann Smith.

Students attaining the honor roll for the first six weeks are: Fourth grade—Alan Gabriel, Sandra Gifford, Barbara Horsley, Valerie May, Barbara McCain, Donna Parker, Tommy Smith, Paul Stevens and Scott Wilson;

Fifth grade—Cynthia Hilderbrand, Rebecca Alkire, Katie Wilson, Connie Ramey, Sandra Ramey and Leslie Reno; Sixth grade — Sharon Graves;

Seventh grade — Carol Davis, Barbara Dudleson, Connie Dunkle, Arnold Gabriel, Joe Horsley, Joann Huffman, Susan Laveck, Marly Luton and Lois Wilson;

Eighth grade — Sue Courtright, Tommy Huffmes, Sandra Huffman, Sharon Lauerman, Charles McKenzie, Robert Parker and Judy Search;

Ninth grade—Sue Adkins, David Beavers, Janet Bower, Rose Burris, Richard Dean, Jackie Evans, Donald Graves, Sandra Grissom, Sandra Buck, Judith Goodman, Janet Hockman, Kaye Seyfang, Anne Smith and Beverley Woolever;

ELEVENTH GRADE — Janice Umsted, Jerry Patrick, Bruce Wilson, Beneva Lauerman, Patty Watson and Tommy Webb;

Twelfth grade — Doris Azbell, Bonnie Dudleson, Janet Grissom, Patty Hockman, Beverley McKenzie, Patty Moats, Janet Search, Nancy Wilson and Nathan Wilson.

They made $40 on a recent bake sale. Seventeen Washington Twp. students entered their class this year making their enrollment 43.

The Junior Class officers for this year are Bill Harral, president; Joan Ginther, vice-president; Donna Spiller, secretary; and Bruce Wilson, treasurer.

FOUR STUDENTS from Washington Twp. entered the class this year. A Pumpkin Show window, and a carnival are the main projects this month.

The Senior Class enrollment totals 28 with the addition of seven new members and the loss of six from last year. A profit of $562.06 was made on the senior magazine drive.

Class officers elected for this year are Nathan Wilson, president; Dave Petty, vice-president; Beverley McKenzie, treasurer; and Bonnie Dudleson, secretary.

NEW HOLLAND

We are all enjoying the autumn weather and have brought signs of fall into our classroom. We have had many bright colored leaves, a pumpkin, some little gourds, acorns, walnuts, hickory nuts and bittersweet. We have kept many of the items for our science corner.

Last week, we had our first word test in our reading work books. Those who got 100 on the test are: Ronette Minshall, Bonnie Sutton, Dixie Wood, Johnny Hart, Sandy Cupp, Becky Mossberger, Janet Adams, Tommy Gifford, Julie Wilson, Patsy Smith, Ivan Knapp, Kelly Melick David Cook, Carol Lee Rowland, Debbie Satchell, Diane Day, Ruby Salyers, Billy Klever and Steven Bryant.

Twelve boys and girls in our room attended Sunday School.

Second Grade

WE ARE READING in our Science readers about seeds and the various ways they can be carried. Several weed seed pods have been brought to school by the children.

The following boys and girls made a grade of 100 in Friday's Spelling test: Mirian Wood, Vivian Thacker, Jimmy Williams, Johnny Rowland, Melanie Oesterle, Nancy Collett, Jan Durflinger, Debbie Travis, Reber Hamilton, Kristi Cross, Diana Jo Eckle, Glenna Jo Woods, Larry Ankrom, Cheryl McConkey and Roger Walters.

Third Grade

The honor roll for our class for the first six weeks is as follows: Peggy Cook, Linda Gifford, Glendon Hart, Deborah Hill, Lin-Linda Lemaster, Joyce Speakda Lemaster, Joyce Speakman, Peggy Marvin, Mary Ann Mossbarger, Ronnie Salyers, Johnny Saxour, David Shaeffer and Paulette Wood.

Miss Erma Mae Hill was a visitor in our room on Friday.

These pupils made 100 in final Spelling test: Jerry Smith, Jay Cottrill, Clarisse McCune, Ronnie Salyers, Johnny Saxour, Sonny Saxour, CHARLES ROOT JR., Patty Conkle, Bryan Cupp, Glendon Hart, Howard Knapp, Linda Lemaster, Paulette Wood, Mary Ann Mossbarger, Peggy Cook, Joyce Speakman and Debbie Hill.

Fifth Grade

There were 19 out of our 25 boys and girls who got 100 in Spelling last week. They are: Peggy Bellar, Terry Cross, Ralph Elkins, Steven Flack, Sarah Funk, Garry Johnson,

Roger Kirk, Christine Melick, Genie Orihood, Linda Patterson, Janice Root, Roger Satchell, Carolyn Shadley, Sherry Thacker, Virginia Thacker, Sue Travis, Ruby Wilcox, Doris Williams and Frank Wood.

Sherry Thacker entered school on Monday, October 20. We are all glad that she is much improved and hope that she can finish out the school year with us.

Eighth Grade

On Friday, we had our six weeks Spelling Test. We have not yet had our papers back.

We have begun studying from our new sicence books and are the first class to use these books.

ON SATURDAY some members of our school safety patrol went to Columbus to the Ohio State - Indiana football game, won by Ohio State, 49-8.

Those from our class who made the trip were Charles Hunter, Greg Bowsher, Lester Dunn and Mike Eckle. Our drivers were Mr. Parrett, our teacher, Harold Wright, Ansel Kirkpatrick Jr. and Wilfred Hupp.

Our class has divided up, for history, into two sides, the North and the South of Civil War time. We elected presidents and vice presidents for each side.

They are: North, Abraham Lincoln, Charles Hunter, Hannibal Hamlin, Patti Hidy, South, Jefferson Davis, Glenn Grimes, Alexander Stephens, Ricky Stinson.—Charles Hunter, News Reporter.

Girls' Glee Club

This week, in glee club, we were discussing going to Ohio Wesleyan. Mrs. Wagner sent in some girls' names. We do not know yet who will go.

We are planning a bake sale on November 1, if possible. With the money, we will buy our music and whatever we need.—Mary Jane Cherry, News Reporter.

Area School News

Pickaway Twp.

At the present time one of the most important issues is whether or not the bond issue and operating levy for the Logan Elm School District will be passed by the voters Tuesday.

The students at Pickaway have shown their interest in the matter by entering a poster contest sponsored by the Citizen's Tax Levy Committee.

Purpose of the contest is to help promote an understanding of the operating levy and bond issue.

The high school winner was Anne Smith. In the grades, the overall winner was Valerie May, a fourth grader.

WINNERS, according to grades, were: fourth grade — first, Scott Wilson, honorable mention — Paul Stevens and Tommy Smith; fifth grade—first, Willis Lowery, honorable mention—Mary Belle Kreisel;

Sixth grade—first, Pam Miller, honorable mention — Anita Moats; seventh and eighth grade — first, Marly Luton.

For the first time since 1952, Pickaway is organizing a band. This year it will be a concert band. The switch from orchestra music to band music was due to a reduced string section.

The editorial and advertising staff of the Pirate Blade, the school newspaper, is as follows: Editor—Nancy Wilson; assistant editor—Patty Hockman; art — Janet Grissom;

Features—Jane Bayes and Donna Spiller; sports — Dale Wolfe and Dwight Newhouse; class reporters —grades, Geneva Lauerman, junior high, Janey Hockman, senior high, Janice Umsted;

Gossip—Doris Azbell; typists — Miss Bayes, Miss Spiller and Beverly McKenzie; machine operators —Dave Petty and Jerry Anderson; mailing—Joyce Miller; advisor — Mrs. Marcus Albright.

THE FIRST GRADE has 28 boys and girls in its class this year. The students are getting along fine and have just finished their first Pre-primer.

The second grade has an enrollment of 25, of which 17 are girls and eight boys. They have been studying weeds in science, mounting specimens of various weeds and watching them bloom.

In water painting, the second graders have learned to blend colors, then cut out leaves from this paper.

There are 15 girls and 12 boys in the third grade. The girls had perfect attendance for the last six weeks of school and the boys had only four days of absence.

They are drawing murals, showing scenes of Circleville. The 3rd graders' terarium is creating much interest as it is fun to watch the toads and preying mantis live.

The fourth grade has an enrollment of 19 boys and 12 girls. They have just begun to study history this year. To celebrate Columbus Day, Paul Stephens, Alan Gabriel and Tommy Smith read stories on Columbus.

THERE ARE 21 boys and 16 girls in the fifth grade. Their first six weeks has been spent in reviewing.

In the sixth grade, 29 of the 33 pupils enrolled had 100 per cent attendance for the first six weeks. The new subject this year is science. They have made an aquarium and are now erecting a desert terrarium.

The seventh grade officers for the 1958-59 school year are Denny Ramsey, president; Marly Luton, vice president; Barbara Dudleson, treasurer, and Card Davis, secretary and news reporter.

Sharon Lauerman recently was elected president of the eighth grade. Other officers are Charles McKenzie, vice president; Sue Courtright, secretary and news reporter, and Carol Ginther, treasurer. The class will have a Halloween party on Thursday.

Maurice Jackson, Columbus radio disk jockey on WTVN, is coming to Pickaway to be in charge of a record hop on December 6. The sophomores hope to see you there.

The Pickaway Junior Carnival will be held soon.

EVERYTHING from salt shakers to toys are being sold by the seniors. For Christmas cards, fruitcakes or mints, please contact any senior.

Pickaway's candidate for Miss Pumpkin Show of 1958 was Juanita Hinton, an attractive 18-year-old senior.

Her brown hair, which has a definite reddish cast, was fixed in a page boy. She wore a black and white wool tweed suit with black accessories. Juanita was among the 10 finalists for Miss Pumpkin Show.

Little Miss Pickaway was Twana Moats, a charming six-year-old with light brown hair of medium length and blue eyes.

For the contest, Twana wore a blue plaid skirt and blue sweater, the color of her eyes. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moats.

Though neither girl placed in the top three, Pickaway was well represented in both contests.

This summer Joan Ginther, Beverley McKenzie and Nancy Wilson arrived at Ohio University, Athens, where the second Ohio Student Council Workshop was to be held.

AFTER registering at the Student Union, the group proceeded to Voigt Hall, where they resided during the week.

They were divided into seven groups of about 25 in each group. At the first assembly each chose a name, wrote a song, chose colors, and made up a cheer for their council.

Each day there were two council meetings—one in the morning and one in the afternoon. At the morning assembly their speaker, Gerald Van Pool, Assistant Secretary for Student Activities, Washington, D. C. summed up the topic for discussion. Some of the discussion topics were: aims and objectives, problems, projects and evaluation.

At the afternoon assembly, one council gave a report in the way of a skit, straight report, or panel on the problem discussed the preceding morning. Following these reports the councils met again to discuss plans for Talent Night and banquet.

One of the highlights of the workshop was each councils' presentation of culminating skits. These were skits written by the councils on the success of the workshop.

New students at the Pickaway School are: Second grade—Danny Darst, Marlene Phillips, Darla Sparks and Harry Parker; Third grade—Dennis Hulse;

FOURTH GRADE — Barbara McCain, Donna Parker, Barbara Horsley, Bruce Neff and David Parker; Fifth grade—David Mitchell, Michael Bailey, Leslie Reno, Terry Darst, Pat Darst, Willis Lowery and Sandra Ramey;

Sixth grade—Jerry Buck, Loretta Lowery, Roger Parker and Cheryl Hulse; Seventh grade—Joe Horsley and Charles Parker;

Eighth grade — Marilyn Moore, Celia Lowery and Gary Horsley;

Sophomores — Charlie Chapman, Eugene Dean, Jim Drumm, Jim Hinton, William Huffer, Larry Williams, Sandra Buck, Betty Conrad, Clara Duey, Sharon Neff, Betty Parker and Kaye Seyfang;

Juniors—Dorothy Huffer, Nancy Huffer, Mary Streber and Harold Bolen;

Seniors — Janet Weaver, Wilma Weaver, Rosemary Lowery, Juanita Hinton, Toni Agin, Charlie Adkins and Mary Kaye Woods.

Chosen to lead the Pickaway ball fans this year for varsity basketball and football were Doris Azbell, Janet Grissom, Patty Moats, Janet Search and Nancy Wilson.

THE RESERVE Basketball cheerleaders are Janet Bower, Sharon Sharrett and Ann Smith.

Students attaining the honor roll for the first six weeks are: Fourth grade—Alan Gabriel, Sandra Gifford, Barbara Horsley, Valerie May, Barbara McCain, Donna Parker, Tommy Smith, Paul Stevens and Scott Wilson;

Fifth grade—Cynthia Hilderbrand, Rebecca Alkire, Katie Wilson, Connie Ramey, Sandra Ramey and Leslie Reno; Sixth grade — Sharon Graves;

Seventh grade — Carol Davis, Barbara Dudleson, Connie Dunkle, Arnold Gabriel, Joe Horsley, Joann Huffman, Susan Laveck, Marly Luton and Lois Wilson;

Eighth grade — Sue Courtright, Tommy Huffmes, Sandra Huffman, Sharon Lauerman, Charles McKenzie, Robert Parker and Judy Search;

Ninth grade—Sue Adkins, David Beavers, Janet Bower, Rose Burris, Richard Dean, Jackie Evans, Donald Graves, Sandra Grissom, Sandra Buck, Judith Goodman, Janet Hockman, Kaye Seyfang, Anne Smith and Beverley Woolever;

ELEVENTH GRADE — Janice Umsted, Jerry Patrick, Bruce Wilson, Beneva Lauerman, Patty Watson and Tommy Webb;

Twelfth grade — Doris Azbell, Bonnie Dudleson, Janet Grissom, Patty Hockman, Beverley McKenzie, Patty Moats, Janet Search, Nancy Wilson and Nathan Wilson.

They made $40 on a recent bake sale. Seventeen Washington Twp. students entered their class this year making their enrollment 43.

The Junior Class officers for this year are Bill Harral, president; Joan Ginther, vice-president; Donna Spiller, secretary; and Bruce Wilson, treasurer.

FOUR STUDENTS from Washington Twp. entered the class this year. A Pumpkin Show window, and a carnival are the main projects this month.

The Senior Class enrollment totals 28 with the addition of seven new members and the loss of six from last year. A profit of $562.06 was made on the senior magazine drive.

Class officers elected for this year are Nathan Wilson, president; Dave Petty, vice-president; Beverley McKenzie, treasurer; and Bonnie Dudleson, secretary.

The World Today

By James Marlow

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)— Secretary of State Dulles says the Soviet promise to help build Egypt's high Aswan dam is nothing to get terribly excited about.

That's putting the best possible face on a bad situation, for it's hard to see how the United States can get anything but damage from this deal.

True, it's possible the Russians will run into trouble with volatile Egyptian President Nasser, that the dam won't get built, and that Russian-Egyptian relations will turn sour.

More likely the dam will get built and Russian influence in Egypt will increase.

Nasser, who promised the Egyptians a better life and got sidetracked with his outside adventures, needs the dam to make good on his promises.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev announced last week the Soviet Union would not only lend Nasser 100 million dollars for the dam but participate in building it.

So, the American problem with the dam has made a full turn of the wheel. It's been a turn full of shock and surprises.

The result of all of it is to make Nasser more dependent on the Soviet Union than ever. It's one further step the Soviet Union takes into the Middle East.

The story revolves around two things which got jumbled together after Nasser and his friends threw out King Farouk in 1952 and started out to make a new Egypt.

He asked this country for arms and for money to build the dam. The dam was to provide electric power and irrigation which meant more food for Egyptians.

He wanted the arms, he said, for defense against Israel.

The United States balked at giving arms. Nasser made it known he'd get the arms, even if he had to get them from the Communists. So he got them from Czechoslovakia.

By this time he was obviously seeking American help by creating fear here the Communists would help if we didn't.

Meanwhile, the United States, after a lot of delay, perhaps some of it needless, arranged to give Nasser a loan to build the dam.

But the United States didn't come through with its offer to help on the dam until it saw Nasser wasn't bluffing about getting arms from the Communists.

In July 1956, the Senate Appropriations Committee told the Eisenhower administration not to use any of the foreign aid money voted that year to help Egypt build the dam.

Finally, fed up with Nasser and under pressure from friends abroad not to make the loan to Nasser, the Eisenhower administration withdrew its offer.

The overheated Nasser, in a fury of retaliation, seized the Suez Canal. Not long afterwards Britain, France and Israel invaded Egypt.

They were called off by the intervention of the United States and the Soviet Union. From then until now the idea of the dam was left dangling.

In these past two years Nasser has been busy spreading his influence in the Middle East and creating hatred for the United States.

Some optimists no doubt would like to think Nasser may become so invoved in his internal improvements that he'll quiet down on his outside adventures.

Probably the opposite will happen, for with visible evidence of big improvements at home the Egyptians are likely to back him more strongly than ever in the trouble he causes abroad — particularly for the United States.

Metropolitan Opera Season Opens in Traditional Style

NEW YORK (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera celebrated its 75th anniversary Monday night — and probably one of the last few opening nights in the old Broadway opera house—with an air of nostalgia and tradition hanging over it all.

The Met, which hopes to open its 1961 season uptown in a big modern auditorium in the Lincoln Center of Performing Arts, went way back for its 1958-59 opener.

The opening night opera was Puccini's "Tosca," first performed at the Met in 1901 and having its third airing at an opening night. Old-timers could remember Farrar, Caruso and Scotti as the stars of the opening night "Tosca" in 1919, or Jeritza, Martinelli and Scotti in 1922's opening night performance.

Monday night it was Tebaldi, Del Monaco and London, no novices at helping the opera company put on a good show for the opening of its season.

Equally traditional was the performance of the opening night audience.

It was composed of diplomats, stars and former stars of the opera world, the rich and the aristocratic, and the usual sprinking of celebrities from other parts of Broadway.

In this year of "high" fashion, when every shopgirl is wearing a new Paris look and waistlines and hems are moving into various strange places, even the fashions of Monday night's gala were amazingly traditional.

The right thing to wear to the opera still seems to be, in the minds of most lady patrons, an elegant ball gown—satin preferred —with the waist where it belongs, the figure shown off to its best advantage and the whole picture framed by mink, ermine or chinchilla and the best display of real gems available.

Practitioners of this principle included Mrs. Rudolf Bing, wife of the Met's general manager; Mrs. Anthony Bliss; Mrs. Lorraine Manville; Mrs. August Belmont; and Mrs. Robert Merrill, wife of the baritone.

One new fashion emphasis appeared to be the floor-length sheath-straight satin or brocade coat often matching the gown underneath it.

As for the opera, its classic melodrama appeared to please everyone.

Associated Press arts editor W. G. Rogers said the performance was a "splendid send-off for the Met's diamond jubiee year."

The World Today

By James Marlow

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)— Secretary of State Dulles says the Soviet promise to help build Egypt's high Aswan dam is nothing to get terribly excited about.

That's putting the best possible face on a bad situation, for it's hard to see how the United States can get anything but damage from this deal.

True, it's possible the Russians will run into trouble with volatile Egyptian President Nasser, that the dam won't get built, and that Russian-Egyptian relations will turn sour.

More likely the dam will get built and Russian influence in Egypt will increase.

Nasser, who promised the Egyptians a better life and got sidetracked with his outside adventures, needs the dam to make good on his promises.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev announced last week the Soviet Union would not only lend Nasser 100 million dollars for the dam but participate in building it.

So, the American problem with the dam has made a full turn of the wheel. It's been a turn full of shock and surprises.

The result of all of it is to make Nasser more dependent on the Soviet Union than ever. It's one further step the Soviet Union takes into the Middle East.

The story revolves around two things which got jumbled together after Nasser and his friends threw out King Farouk in 1952 and started out to make a new Egypt.

He asked this country for arms and for money to build the dam. The dam was to provide electric power and irrigation which meant more food for Egyptians.

He wanted the arms, he said, for defense against Israel.

The United States balked at giving arms. Nasser made it known he'd get the arms, even if he had to get them from the Communists. So he got them from Czechoslovakia.

By this time he was obviously seeking American help by creating fear here the Communists would help if we didn't.

Meanwhile, the United States, after a lot of delay, perhaps some of it needless, arranged to give Nasser a loan to build the dam.

But the United States didn't come through with its offer to help on the dam until it saw Nasser wasn't bluffing about getting arms from the Communists.

In July 1956, the Senate Appropriations Committee told the Eisenhower administration not to use any of the foreign aid money voted that year to help Egypt build the dam.

Finally, fed up with Nasser and under pressure from friends abroad not to make the loan to Nasser, the Eisenhower administration withdrew its offer.

The overheated Nasser, in a fury of retaliation, seized the Suez Canal. Not long afterwards Britain, France and Israel invaded Egypt.

They were called off by the intervention of the United States and the Soviet Union. From then until now the idea of the dam was left dangling.

In these past two years Nasser has been busy spreading his influence in the Middle East and creating hatred for the United States.

Some optimists no doubt would like to think Nasser may become so invoved in his internal improvements that he'll quiet down on his outside adventures.

Probably the opposite will happen, for with visible evidence of big improvements at home the Egyptians are likely to back him more strongly than ever in the trouble he causes abroad — particularly for the United States.

Hookey-Playing Boy Drowns in Cesspool

CLEVELAND (AP)—Six - year-old Lawrence Woods, hunted after he failed to come home to lunch from his first grade class, was found drowned Tuesday night in a cesspool here.

Firemen, police and a Coast Guard crew helped in the search. The pool and an adjoining dump, privately owned, are used by neighborhood youngsters as a play area.

Four other boys, ages 7 to 9, said Lawrence and they played hookey from school Tuesday and went to play around the privately owned cesspool and adjoining dump.

Man Injured by Gas Is Awarded $45,000

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A Common Pleas Jury Tuesday awarded $45,000 damages to Wiley Blair, a construction worker, for injuries received when he breathed poisonous gas while repairing an underground conduit at the Collins Park Filtration Plant. The city of Toledo maintained during the seven-day trial that no chlorine gas had entered the conduit. Blair's attorneys said gas leaked from a pipe and caused him to lose his voice and suffer other permanent disability.

Metropolitan Opera Season Opens in Traditional Style

NEW YORK (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera celebrated its 75th anniversary Monday night — and probably one of the last few opening nights in the old Broadway opera house—with an air of nostalgia and tradition hanging over it all.

The Met, which hopes to open its 1961 season uptown in a big modern auditorium in the Lincoln Center of Performing Arts, went way back for its 1958-59 opener.

The opening night opera was Puccini's "Tosca," first performed at the Met in 1901 and having its third airing at an opening night. Old-timers could remember Farrar, Caruso and Scotti as the stars of the opening night "Tosca" in 1919, or Jeritza, Martinelli and Scotti in 1922's opening night performance.

Monday night it was Tebaldi, Del Monaco and London, no novices at helping the opera company put on a good show for the opening of its season.

Equally traditional was the performance of the opening night audience.

It was composed of diplomats, stars and former stars of the opera world, the rich and the aristocratic, and the usual sprinking of celebrities from other parts of Broadway.

In this year of "high" fashion, when every shopgirl is wearing a new Paris look and waistlines and hems are moving into various strange places, even the fashions of Monday night's gala were amazingly traditional.

The right thing to wear to the opera still seems to be, in the minds of most lady patrons, an elegant ball gown—satin preferred —with the waist where it belongs, the figure shown off to its best advantage and the whole picture framed by mink, ermine or chinchilla and the best display of real gems available.

Practitioners of this principle included Mrs. Rudolf Bing, wife of the Met's general manager; Mrs. Anthony Bliss; Mrs. Lorraine Manville; Mrs. August Belmont; and Mrs. Robert Merrill, wife of the baritone.

One new fashion emphasis appeared to be the floor-length sheath-straight satin or brocade coat often matching the gown underneath it.

As for the opera, its classic melodrama appeared to please everyone.

Associated Press arts editor W. G. Rogers said the performance was a "splendid send-off for the Met's diamond jubiee year."

Brown, Sweeney Seek State Post

This is another in a series of stories dealing with the upcoming election. Information on candidates and issues is given to help voters make informed decisions when they enter the voting booth.

The office of Ohio Secretary of State finds incumbent Ted W. Brown, Republican, facing Asher W. Sweeney, Democrat. The term of office is for four years and the salary is $15,000.

It is the responsibility of the state secretary to appoint and supervise members of county boards of election; to act as chief elections officer of the state;

To act as custodian of all laws

Ted W. Brown

and resolutions passed by the General Assembly and care for the official journals of the House and Senate.

Brown is a native of Springfield, where he received his education, and where he served two terms as Clark County Recorder.

* * *

HE IS 52 YEARS of age; is married, the father of three daughters, and has four grandchildren. He is a member of a number of patriotic, fraternal and civic organizations and is past President of the Ohio Association of County Recorders.

Prior to taking office as Secretary of State in January, 1951, he operated a heating and ventilating business in Columbus. Following his service in county office he held an administrative post in the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles and later as Executive Secretary of a trade association.

Brown was given the top national award by the American Heritage Foundation for the best educational program of any state official in the United States in 1953 and again in 1957.

Sweeney, of Salem, is an attorney who has spent much of his adult life in the Army.

Sweeney, 37, was born and reared near Canfield and worked on farms and in nearby steel mills to finance his education.

He started at University of Youngstown, but his studies were interrupted when he entered the Army in 1942. He rose from private to lieutenant during South Pacific service and became a civilian again in 1946.

* * *

SWEENEY completed his legal training at Duke University, was admitted to the bar and was with the industrial relations department of Republic Steel Corp. when he was recalled to active duty in 1950 during the Korean conflict. He was awarded the Bronze Star.

Since then, he has served primarily as an Army legal adviser. Sweeney is married and the father of two children.

Sweeney possesses legal training and experience, a practical knowledge of farming and an economic knowledge of business.

1,600 Given Surplus Food in Clermont Area

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — More than 1,600 persons in money-strapped Clermont County received surplus food commodities this month from the county welfare department. Welfare Director Wayne Oney reported the sharp increase in commodity distribution Tuesday and said it stems partly from the lack of any poor relief payments this month because the department is nearly broke. He said the department may be able to resume some aid next month.

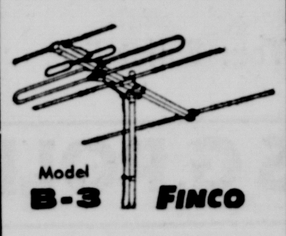

ACCUSED SERGEANT—M/Sgt. George B. Scovie, 30, Ogdensburg, N. Y., enters the court martial building at Fort Jackson, S. C., where he is accused of forcing U. S. Army recruits to such indignities as holding duffel bags in their teeth, eating $1 bills, dunking in grease.

O'Neill Promises Technical School

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill today said he would seek to have a two-year state technical institute built in Cleveland.

O'Neill said that if re-elected he would ask the next session of the state Legislature to authorize immediate establishment of the institute. "Speedy action may permit the offering of courses in 1959," he added.

The institute would provide training in industrial and scientific skills to high school graduates.

Ohio Education Conference Rejects Federal Aid Setup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An educational conference looking into the problems facing Ohio public schools has rejected the idea of federal aid to education.

But the 3,000 delegates to the State House Conference on Education could not agree Tuesday on the means to finance the state's ever - expanding school system. They split almost evenly on proposals for a state income tax and a levy on soft drinks.

The conference, which is considering the results of more than 500 local educational conferences held around the state this year, will undoubtedly make its suggestions felt in the next Legisature.

Among the suggestions—most of which were fairly standard—were:

More pay and community respect for teachers; state loan funds for needy but capable college students; more clerical help for teachers so they can spend more time at their primary task—teaching.

Better testing and guidance programs for school children and special programs for gifted children; higher standards for the average student; better school-community relations, and more branches of state universities.

The delegates generally wanted the State Board of Education to be given more money and authority to become a "really effective working body" for better Ohio schools. The delegates particularly wanted the board to take the lead in school district reorganization. Many thought the board should have the authority to force reorganization of sub-standard districts. The largest number of delegates thought the minimum enrollment for a 12-grade school should be between 1,000 and 1,200 pupils.

On the ever present problem of school finances the delegates voted overwhelmingly for a proposal that school bond issues and operating levies require only a simple majority at elections. Under present law they require 55 to 60 per cent approval of the voters depending on the type of election.

More than half of the discussion groups agreed that school levies, once approved, should remain in effect until repealed by the voters.

Ohio Public Utility Tax Due To Show Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Collections for public utilities taxes this year will total over 38 million dollars, an increase of almost two million over last year's collections. State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy attributed the increase to expansion of utilities which has increased their gross earnings. About 20 ½ million dollars of the tax revenue will go toward poor relief.

The delegates particularly wanted the board to take the lead in school district reorganization. Many thought the board should have the authority to force reorganization of sub-standard districts. The largest number of delegates thought the minimum enrollment for a 12-grade school should be between 1,000 and 1,200 pupils.

On the ever present problem of school finances the delegates voted overwhelmingly for a proposal that school bond issues and operating levies require only a simple majority at elections. Under present law they require 55 to 60 per cent approval of the voters depending on the type of election.

More than half of the discussion groups agreed that school levies, once approved, should remain in effect until repealed by the voters.

Ohio Public Utility Tax Due To Show Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Collections for public utilities taxes this year will total over 38 million dollars, an increase of almost two million over last year's collections. State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy attributed the increase to expansion of utilities which has increased their gross earnings. About 20 ½ million dollars of the tax revenue will go toward poor relief.

Cattle Feeders Plan Tour on New Technique

Six Northwestern Ohio cattlemen will open the gates of their feedlots for visitors November 5, the date set for a state-wide cattle feeders' tour.

The visitors will see some of the latest trends in feedlot equipment and organizations, according to George Hamrick, County Extension Agent, Agriculture. There will be silos equipped with unloaders, paved feeding areas, bunks with silage conveyors, overhead storage bins for grain, remodeled barns and numerous other facilities.

The tour, Hamrick says, should have special interest for Ohio cattle feeders, agricultural leaders and allied commercial interests.

Farms included in the tour are those of Wallace Nelson, Archbold; Keith Humbert, Fayette; Charles Rupp, Fayette; Maurice Jones, Morenci; Wilbur Kleck, Delta, and Robert Fauble, Delta.

Those planning to attend the event will assemble at the Lugbill auction market on Route 66 at the south edge of Archbold. There they will be joined by teams of Northwest Ohio county extension agents and extension resource personnel who will conduct them to the farms. The first group will leave the market at 8:30 a. m. and the last group at 10:30 a. m.

Pickaway County farmers desiring to attend this tour can contact the County Extension Office and make reservations in the car pool from Pickaway County.

2 Prison Terms Handed Bartender in Slayings

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Part-time bartender Carl Lilly must spend two 1-20 year terms in Ohio Penitentiary for the fatal shooting of two men he said attacked him outside a tavern. Judge Warren C. Young, set the consecutive terms Tuesday in Common Pleas Court after Lilly, 52, was convicted of second degree manslaughter. James Harvey Sykes, 34, and John Lewis Jr., 31, of Loveland Park, were killed in the affray last July 26.

4-H Barbecue Set Saturday

Over 1000 4-H and FFA members, parents, and advisors are expected to attend the annual barbecue and program planned for Saturday in the Fairgrounds Coliseum starting at 6:30 p. m.

The evening will start with barbecued beef and lamb with all the trimmings. The meat is once again being prepared by the meats laboratory at Ohio State University.

Over 50 individual 4-H members will receive awards for work which they have done throughout the year. In addition, the Honor Clubs will be announced at this event.

The Dogpatchers from Columbus will provide the evenings major entertainment. In addition, musical numbers will be presented by several 4-H club members in the county.

This evening of feast and entertainment is made possible through the personal and financial help of many business men and industries in the county.

DONORS INCLUDE: Farmers National Bank of Williamsport, Second National Bank, Third National Bank, John Eshelman and Sons, Brehmer Greenhouses, Hill Implement Company, Dunlap Service, General Electric, Winorr Canning Company, Circleville Savings and Banking Company, Container Corporation of America, Charles May, Heffner Grain Company, Circleville Oil Company, Pickaway Grain Company, Ralston Purina Company, Paul Johnson, New Car Dealers Assn., First National Bank, Beckett Implement Company, George Van Camp, Citizens Bank of Ashville, Pickaway Livestock Coop, Pickaway Farm Bureau Inc., Pickaway Dairy Co-op, Kroger Company, and J. The committee in charge of the barbecue includes Larry Varble, Russ Palm, Dudley Carpenter, George Hamrick and Clarence J. Cunningham. The 4-H Advisory Council assisted with planning the program.

Insect Information

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

FOR THE FARMER

(1) Ohio farmers will need to spray red clover and alfalfa in the spring of 1959 to protect against spittlebug damage. Early in September 21 representative counties were surveyed for adult spittlebug populations. Although populations are not as high as in 1957, the density is such that overwintering eggs will be plentiful and damage will surely follow to clover and alfalfa during the spring of 1959, with the possible exception of the counties at the west end of Lake Erie. Nevertheless, even there any field with a history of spittlebug damage should be sprayed.

(2) Alfalfa weevil is a serious pest advancing from the east, but there is no cause for concern at this time. West Virginia and Pennsylvania entomologists have watched this weevil for the last three years. It should reach the Ohio River in 1959. (Infested alfalfa looks like it had been hit by forst; leaves are grey-brown and skeletonized; and shatter at harvest.)

(3) Now is the time to treat cattle for lice, hogs for mange and lice, and sheep for keds (ticks) before it is too cold. Spray sows before farrowing. Clean sows will not infest baby pigs. If sheep were not dipped or sprayed after shearing, now is the next best time.

FOR THE HOME-OWNER

(1) Thrips will winter over on gladiolus corms. Dust with 5 per cent DDT now, before storing in a cool, dry place, or shake a tablespoonful of 50 per cent DDT wettable powder with a few pounds of corms in a paper sack. It will eliminate much serious infestation next year.

(2) Mothers will get the children's winter clothes out soon and see damage from "moths" (both clothes moth and black carpet beetle). The time to prevent damage is when the clothes are stored, but dry-cleaning will kill all stages of "moths", and halt damage.

(3) There are many scale insects of trees and shrubs. Scraggly appearance and sooty foliage are often indicative, but it is best to send in specimens for positive identification. For deciduous trees; use dormant oil when the leaves are off. For evergreens; use Malathion during May 15-June 1st.

(4) Houseflies in the home may be annoying until December. They will get sluggish on cold days and be killed easily with a good commercial aerosol. Look on the label for "pyrethrins" and-or "Allethrin" content. Higher content gives quicker action.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Over 1,300 projects in nutrition, clothing, gardening, livestock, and other areas were completed by the 4-H club members in Pickaway County during the past year. These projects were carried in 48 local clubs which were directed by 107 local leaders.

Of the 818 members who started the 4-H club year, 95 percent completed one or more projects. This was a nine percent increase in completion percentage from last year.

In addition to completing the above projects, these young men and women learned how to conduct meetings, how to give demonstrations, how to talk in front of a group, and how to get along with fellow club members. Each member attended at least eight local club meetings and the county judging or fair. In addition, many members attended livestock judging training meetings, 4-H camp, officers training meetings, demonstration contests, and recreational activities.

The 4-H club program is a volunteer program and is part of the Agriculture Extension Service. All youth or adults interested in 4-H club work should contact the present local advisors or the Extension Office in the basement of the Post Office building in Circleville.

24 Blood Donors Plan To Aid Child's Surgery

CLEVELAND (AP)—A group of 24 blood donors are expected here from Port Clinton and Oak Harbor today to give blood at St. Vincent Charity Hospital to Paula Jean Beck, 11, of Oak Harbor. The child is undergoing a second open-heart operation involving use of an artificial heart and nearly three gallons of fresh blood

Virginia Garrett Reports On National 4-H Dairy Meet

By Virginia Garrett

Leaving from Marion, O., on October 6, I arrived in Chicago about 5 p. m., bound for the Fourth Annual 4-H Dairy Conference. There were five delegates from Ohio in my group and our chaperon, C. D. McGrew. We met the other five delegates from Ohio in Chicago at the YMCA Hotel where we stayed.

The center of activity for the week was the Conrad Hilton Hotel. Altogether, there were 136 delegates attending the conference. Of this number, only 20 were girls, four from Ohio. Twenty-two states were represented and also Canada, Mexico, and Portugal.

One of the main "attractions" of the week was our menu. I never saw so much food served in such style in all my life! We ate in beautiful rooms at such hotels as the Conrad Hilton Hotel, Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel, and Congress Hotel. We also had two wonderful meals at the Saddle and Sirloin Club at the Stock Yards Inn, and also one meal at the Prudential Building.

Two interesting tours we took during the week were to the Chicago Board of Trade and to the Butter Plant. We also visited the International Dairy Show. There I met some other kids from Ohio, and also one Pickaway Countian, Miss Patty Kempton, who showed a Jersey cow there.

Another main attraction was the Rodeo we attended Wednesday night. It was just like the ones we see on television with the calf roping, bull riding, and all. Also, there was a musical ride of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. This was really something to see. On Thursday, we went up to the top of the Prudential Building where we viewed Chicago from what they call the "Top of the Rock".

WE HAD SOME very interesting speakers during the week including Dr. W. E. Peterson, Professor of Dairy Husbandry, University of Minnesota, and Mr. J. C. Hays, Professor Emeritus, Michigan State University. We also heard short talks from Miss Sandra Stout, the 1958 American Dairy Princess, and from Great Britain's Dairy Queen.

We arrived home on Friday, October 10. As you can see, we had a very busy week. I had a wonderful time and wish to thank anyone and everyone who made it possible for me to attend the Fourth Annual 4-H Dairy Conference at Chicago, Illinois.

Editor's Note: Virginia Gadrett was one of three Ohio youths who received a trip to 4-H Dairy Conference for her outstanding work in dairy. The trip was sponsored by the National Dairy Products Corp. Other Ohio Delegates were dairy judging team members and demonstration winners at the Ohio State Fair.

Pickaway Twp. Prepares Play

The Pickaway Twp. senior class will present an Alfred Hitchcock play entitled, "Bull in the China Shop" on November 7.

The play is under the direction of Mrs. Robert Mills. The cast includes Nathan Wilson, Janet Search, Bonnie Dudleson, Toni Agin, Beverly McKenzie, Nancy Wilson, Juanita Hinton, Dave Petty, Rosemary Lowery, Jerry Anderson, Gary Rittinger and Charlie Adkins.

The detective mystery, with a sudden and surprising ending, will start at 8 p. m. and be held in the high school auditorium.

No Argument

STERLING, Colo. (AP) — Robert Roberts won't be criticizing his wife's driving in the future. Mrs. Roberts, driving the famly car, collided with another car in the alley near the Roberts home. Roberts was miffed about it all until he, too, collided with a car at exactly the same spot two days later.

Another main attraction was the Rodeo we attended Wednesday night. It was just like the ones we see on television with the calf roping, bull riding, and all. Also, there was a musical ride of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. This was really something to see. On Thursday, we went up to the top of the Prudential Building where we viewed Chicago from what they call the "Top of the Rock".

WE HAD SOME very interesting speakers during the week including Dr. W. E. Peterson, Professor of Dairy Husbandry, University of Minnesota, and Mr. J. C. Hays, Professor Emeritus, Michigan State University. We also heard short talks from Miss Sandra Stout, the 1958 American Dairy Princess, and from Great Britain's Dairy Queen.

We arrived home on Friday, October 10. As you can see, we had a very busy week. I had a wonderful time and wish to thank anyone and everyone who made it possible for me to attend the Fourth Annual 4-H Dairy Conference at Chicago, Illinois.

Editor's Note: Virginia Gadrett was one of three Ohio youths who received a trip to 4-H Dairy Conference for her outstanding work in dairy. The trip was sponsored by the National Dairy Products Corp. Other Ohio Delegates were dairy judging team members and demonstration winners at the Ohio State Fair.

Pickaway Twp. Prepares Play

The Pickaway Twp. senior class will present an Alfred Hitchcock play entitled, "Bull in the China Shop" on November 7.

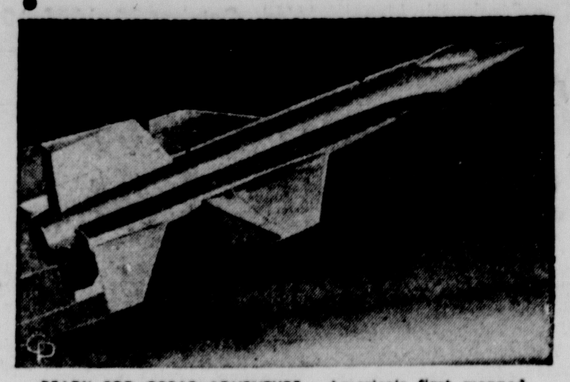

The play is under the direction of Mrs. Robert Mills. The cast includes Nathan Wilson, Janet Search, Bonnie Dudleson, Toni Agin, Beverly McKenzie, Nancy Wilson, Juanita Hinton, Dave Petty, Rosemary Lowery, Jerry Anderson, Gary Rittinger and Charlie Adkins.

The detective mystery, with a sudden and surprising ending, will start at 8 p. m. and be held in the high school auditorium.

No Argument

STERLING, Colo. (AP) — Robert Roberts won't be criticizing his wife's driving in the future. Mrs. Roberts, driving the famly car, collided with another car in the alley near the Roberts home. Roberts was miffed about it all until he, too, collided with a car at exactly the same spot two days later.

Young, Bricker In Senate Scrap

This is another in a series of stories dealing with the upcoming election. Information on candidates and issues is given to help voters make informed decisions when they enter the voting booth.

The race for United States Senator from Ohio pits senior Senator John W. Bricker, Republican, against Stephen M. Young, Democrat.

The term of office is for six years and the salary is $22,500.

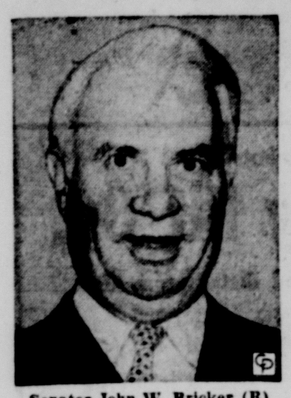

It is the responsibility of a U. S. senator to represent the people of Ohio and the U. S. dealing with matters of national and international import. The general welfare should be his prime concern.

Senator Bricker, 64, was born on a farm in Pleasant Twp., Madison County, near Mt. Sterling. He attended McKendree and Toops rural grade schools and Mt. Sterling High School. He was graduated from the Ohio State University College of Law in 1917.

• • •

UPON GRADUATION from Ohio State and admission to the Ohio Bar, Sen. Bricker was commissioned a first lieutenant in the Army, serving until the close of World War I. He began law practice in Columbus in 1920. He was married in the same year to Miss Harriet Day. They have a son, Jack Bricker, who lives in Columbus with his wife and children.

Sen. Bricker began hs public career as city solicitor of Grandview Heights, a suburb of Columbus, in 1920. In 1923, he was appointed Ohio Assistant Attorney General assigned as Counsel to the Ohio Public Utilities Commission for four years.

Senator John W. Bricker (R)
OHIO

His next position was as a Member of the Ohio Public Utilities Commission for four years, 1928-32. He was next elected Attorney General in November, 1932. He was re-elected in 1934.

Bricker was elected Governor of Ohio in 1938 and re-elected in 1940 and 1942. In 1944, the then governor was nominated as the Republican candidate for Vice President.

In November, 1946, Bricker was elected to the United States Senate. He now ranks 12th in seniority among the Republicans of the Senate and 29th in the Senate.

Sen. Bricker is the ranking Republican member of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce and a member of its Communications Subcommittee. He is second ranking Republican member of the Committee on Banking and Currency and a member of its Subcommittee on Banking and Subcommittee on Currency and Coinage.

• • •

HE IS A MEMBER of the Joint Senate House Committee on Atomic Energy and of its Subcommittee on Military Application; Agreements for Cooperation; and Space Propulsion. He is also a member of the newly created Senate Special Committee on Astronautics and Space Exploration.

He is a member of the Joint Senate-House Committee on Defense Production, the Senate Special Subcommittee on Disarmament and the Senate Republican Policy Committee. He is chairman of the Republican Committee on Committees, which decides the committee assignments of Republican members.

Sen. Bricker is the author of the proposed Bricker Constitutional Amendment, which is designed to confine the treaty-making powers of the Executive Branch of the Government within traditional constitutional boundaries. The Amendment, which came within one vote (60-31) of passing in 1954, is pending in revised form in the Senate.

Stephen M. Young (D)
OHIO

Sen. Bricker is a Trustee of the Ohio State University and Franklin University, Columbus, and a former Trustee of Defiance College and Denison University.

Stephen M. Young, 68, Shaker Heights, is a Cleveland trial lawyer. He attended Kenyon and Adelbert Colleges. Young received the degree of LL. B. from Western Reserve University Law School.

He was elected congressman-at-large to the 73rd, 74th and 75th Congresses and again to the 81st Congress. He served two terms in the Ohio General Assembly.

• • •

HE HAS BEEN CHIEF criminal prosecuting attorney of Cuyahoga County and Special Counsel to the Ohio Attorney General. Young was also a member of the Ohio Commission on Unemployment Insurance.

The widower and father of three children, served in the field artillery in World War I and volunteered for Army service in 1942 serving 32 months in World War II.

The past president of the Cuyahoga County Bar Assn. received four battle stars and many decorations for his Army service and was a military governor in Italy after the War.

O'Neill's TV Bill Said To Be $60,000

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill has spent more than $60,000 for television time in the current campaign, asserts his opponent, Michael V. DiSalle, who has proposed a pre-election report of campaign expenses by the two.

Addressing Democratic meetings in Cleveland and suburbs Tuesday night, DiSalle said in the six days left before election "our opposition will not be resting." Wholesale mailings of GOP literature from Columbus and Cincinnati is still to come, DiSalle said he had learned.

In criticizing the administration of the Republican incumbent, DiSalle pinpointed the welfare program and specifically facilities for delinquent and mentally retarded children.

Although O'Neill promised in the campaign of two years ago to further mental care programs, DiSalle said, "the budget request of the juvenile division was cut 30 per cent."

In the Toledo area, facilities for disturbed children are virtually non-existant," DiSalle declared. Such facilities as exist in Cincinnati, Columbus and Cleveland are not availlable to Toledo residents because of waiting lists in those communities," he added.

This year the governor is making the same pledges he failed to keep since he made them two years ago, DiSalle said.

Middletown Electric Power Is Disrupted

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Two severed electric lines in an isolated area Tuesday night knocked out the police headquarters broadcasting equipment and radio station WPFB, darkened hundreds of homes and disrupted business at the new shopping center here for nearly four hours. Officials of the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. said vandals may be responsible.

Who's Running Michigan Is Political Issue in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The question of who's running the state of Michigan has become a campaign issue in the Ohio election.

This peculiar sidelight of the campaign cropped up when Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill asserted a few weeks ago that "corrupt labor bosses" had taken over the domain of Michigan Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

O'Neill also has inferred that a like fate awaits the Buckeye State if a proposed constitutional amendment to regulate labor contracts is defeated at the polls.

O'Neill supports the proposed amendment which states:

"No employer or labor organization shall deny or abridge the right to work by requiring membership or non-membership in, or payment or non-payment of money to, a labor organization as a condition of employment or continued employment in the state."

Today, State Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman took up the debate over Michigan politics. In a prepared statement Coleman declared:

"He (O'Neill) has been making . . . charges that corrupt labor bosses are running the state of Michigan. I think it is time to recall who the corrupt labor leaders are and who they have historically supported."

According to Coleman the corrupt Michigan labor bosses are Teamsters Union leader Jimmy Hoffa and his lieutenants. And Hoffa and company, Coleman said, have consistently backed Republican candidates in Michigan politics.

"Now the governor is telling the voters that there is economic chaos in Michigan because corrupt labor bosses control the state," Coleman said. "Well, let's take a look at state government in Michigan. The state Legislature has been controlled for the past 20 years by a heavy Republican majority. If burdensome taxes drove business out of Michigan, then a Republican - controlled Legislature passed those taxes."

Here in Ohio, Coleman added, the teamsters backed O'Neill in his successful bid for the governorship two years ago.

"I know the Ohio teamsters, led by William Presser, endorsed the governor in 1956, but what I would really like to know is what it took to get their backing." Coleman said. "Is there anyone so naive as to believe they gave their support without exacting committments or that their support was unwanted?"

MERRY-GO-ROUND Answering a government claim that he owes $139,938 in unpaid taxes for 1952 and 1953, singer Gordon MacRae gestures in a federal tax court in Los Angeles. MacRae said he borrowed a million dollars in an attempt to salvage some of his top Hollywood earnings from the federal tax collector. The government branded the borrowing and subsequent purchase of government bonds as "a financial merry-go-round in a preconceived plan entered into solely for income tax purposes."

Lower Priced Cars To Get Trial in '59

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's auto makers should learn early in 1959 how much demand there is for smaller, lower priced cars.

Studebaker-Packard's introduction of its Lark series not only brings the prospect of a larger volume of smaller cars into the U.S. market, but it also lays the groundwork for a stiff competitive fight with American Motors.

And if S-P, like American Motors, lifts itself into profitable operations with the smaller unit, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler will push production of their own smaller vehicles.

GM, Ford and Chrysler have insisted their small car work has been strictly experimental but they could put the cars into production on short notice.

S-P's price schedule for the Lark series, built on a 108½-inch wheelbase disclosed some tags slightly lower and some a little higher than those of American Motors. The lowest price for the Lark models is lower than the lowest priced Ford, Plymouth or Chevrolet.

The cheapest Lark model in the four-door sedan styling has a factory list tag of $1,821. The lowest American Motors' Rambler four-door model lists at $1,918.

Ford's lowest priced four-door sedan has a list price of $2,065; Plymouth $2,074 and Chevrolet $2,091.

The listings do not mean that you can get delivery at the prices stated. Taxes, dealer handling and optional equipment charges have to be added along with license fees and in some instances other fees.

Q. My teenage daughter is nearsighted but hates to wear ordinary glasses. Would it be all right for her to use contact lenses?

A. Until more or less recently, some eye doctors have been inclined to advise against contact lenses for children. The situation has changed somewhat, due in part to refinement in lenses. Under certain circumstances, the doctor might approve contact lenses for a teenager. The problem should be discussed with the doctor who prescribed her regular glasses.

Q. "I am 50 and have never been sick enough to have a doctor. However, I am going through the change of life and it has me worried. Would you please discuss this subject?"— A.F.

A. This is a very frequent request and we will do what we can to explain. Up to about 45 or 50 years of age the ovaries secrete hormones which are responsible for certain female characteristics. Somewhere between 45 and 50, on the average, the ovaries begin to slow up and hormone production slackens. The menses become scanty and the periods are spaced further and further apart. That's all there is to it for lots of women. Others experience mild symptoms such as an occasional headache or jitteriness, but nothing serious. Still others have "hot flashes" or severe sweats along with sieges of emotional and nervous upsets. There may be vague aches and pains involving almost any part of the body. Not all menopausal troubles can be blamed on lack of ovarian hormones but many women who have severe symptoms can be helped through the period of readjustment with medicines prescribed by their physician. Those who are not so severely upset usually need no drugs at all. Women tend to believe all sorts of "change of life" stories told to them by friends and relatives. The menopause is as normal as corn in Kansas. There is no reason to consider the menopause as the end of anything except the ability to have children. In fact, the period of life after the menopause should be one of physical, mental, and sexual well-being to which the woman can look forward and enjoy.

AP Guesspert Tries Again To Pick Winners

LSU, Iowa, Army Get Nod; Oklahoma Picked For Loss to Colorado

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — After a week's stay on the rim of Upset Gulch in hopes of getting accustomed to the bumps and bruises a forecaster gets on Saturday afternoon: (Last week's record: 27 right, 24 wrong, .529).

Louisiana State over Mississippi: You would think some script writer arranged this one: two unbeaten Southeastern Conference powers tangling with a Sugar Bowl bid probably going to the winner. LSU the pick on Billy Cannon's speed.

Iowa over Michigan: The Hawkeyes have been chided for a year because they played it safe in the 1957 meeting and insured themselves a tie with the Wolverines. Randy Duncan's passing to break deadlock.

Army over Colgate: Without breaking into a sweat.

Auburn over Florida: That Auburn defense is too tough.

Colorado over Oklahoma: Annually Colorado gives Oklahoma fits but winds up in second place. This time the Buffaloes succeed.

Purdue over Illinois: The Illini got their upset last Saturday.

Oregon State over California: The home team should triumph in a struggle as close as their 21-19 fracas a year ago. The winner takes over the Coast Conference lead and the inside track to the Rose Bowl.

Notre Dame over Navy: The Middies' rebuilt line hasn't had time to jell.

Skipping over the others in a hurry:

FRIDAY NIGHT

New Mexico over Denver, Vanderbilt over Miami, Tulane over Texas Tech.

SATURDAY

EAST: Pittsburgh over Syracuse, Boston College over College of Pacific, Boston University over William & Mary, Lehigh over Bucknell, Buffalo over Temple, Cornell over Columbia, Rutgers over Delaware, Harvard over Penn, Holy Cross over Dayton, Penn State over Furman, Princeton over Brown, Dartmouth over Yale.

SOUTH: North Carolina over Tennessee, Alabama over Georgia, Clemson over Wake Forest, Georgia Tech over Duke, Mississippi State over Kentucky, Florida State over Tampa, South Carolina over Maryland, North Carolina State over Virginia Tech, Richmond over The Citadel, Virginia Military over Virginia, West Virginia over George Washington, Wofford over Davidson.

MIDWEST: Wisconsin over Michigan State, Detroit over Marquette, Indiana over Minnesota, Iowa State over South Dakota, Kansas State over Kansas, Missouri over Nebraska, Air Force over Oklahoma State, Villanova over Wichita, Ohio State over Northwestern.

SOUTHWEST: Southern Methodist over Texas, Houston over Tulsa, North Texas State over Cincinnati, Texas A & M over Arkansas, Texas Christian over Baylor, Hardin Simmons over Texas Western.

FAR WEST: Arizona State over New Mexico A&M, West Texas over Arizona, Colorado State over Montana, Idaho over San Jose State, Southern California over Stanford, Washington State over UCLA, Utah State over Brigham Young, Oregon over Washington, Wyoming over Utah.

Atlanta, Deers Eye Cage Openers

Atlanta and Williamsport open their 1958-59 basketball seasons Saturday night. Perry Twp. meets Clarksburg on its opponent's court. Deercreek faces Jackson in a non-league battle on its home floor.

According to coach James Shaw, Atlanta will floor a small squad in height and in number, but hopes that hustle and determination will bring them more luck this year.

Last year, Perry lost 14 games and won three. They finished last in the county league, losing a final game with Monroe, winless until that contest.

The Perry Raiders will have three returning lettermen and a strong reserve team to fill absent shoes due to graduation.

• • •

THERE ARE only 24 boys enrolled in the Atlanta high school and 20 of them will represent the school on the basketball squad or as managers.

The starting squad all has had previous varsity experience, with three playing regular last year. They will include seniors Darrell Long, 5-9; Paul Morris, 5-10; Jerry Newton, 5-8; Jack Tarbill, 5-9, and Darrell Wisecup, 5-8. Long, Newton and Wisecup are lettermen.

Juniors to play this year, according to Shaw, will include Delbert Bush, 5-8, a newcomer to the team with only junior high experience. He will see considerable action on the reserve team.

Norman Huffman, 5-8, started on the reserve team last year and is fighting for a starting varsity berth. Ronnie Morris, 5-11, saw considerable varsity action last year, though not a letterman. He played good ball with the reserves.

Tommy Oyer, 5-11, is a returning reserve starter and saw action with the varsity last year during the end of the season. Bill Yates, 5-9, hasn't seen too much action, but will probably play on both the varsity and reserve squads this year.

Corwin Donohoe, 5-10, is the only sophomore out for basketball since he is the only boy in the tenth grade. Until he obtains experience, Donohoe will see only reserve action.

Freshmen include Richard Gerhardt, 5-8, a brother to Gerald, who graduated in May. Richard was injured in an accident this summer, but has sufficiently recovered to go the limit on the basketball court.

• • •

MAX JUSTICE, 5-7, is just beginning high school ball this year. Justice played junior high ball and will see reserve action.

Brooks McCoy, 5-6, has a promising shot which should be an asset to the Atlanta reserves. Richard Reisinger, 5-7, played a lot of junior high ball and is shaping up nicely for the reserve squad.

Junior Shelpman, 5-8, is a transfer student from Monroe Twp. After he develops, Shaw expects to play him during the latter part of the season.

Gary Wisecup, 5-5, is the smallest man on the Atlanta team. He is expected to see action on the reserve squad this year, especially as he continues to grow.

Floyd Woolever, 5-7, is counted on for basketball even though chores will take up some of his time.

Last year Atlanta averaged 44.3 points per game, allowing opponents 57.7 points per test. Perry tallied a total of 709 points during the season as the opposition registered 923. They ranked last in points scored per game and sixth defensively.

• • •

CHEERLEADERS for the Atlanta Red Raiders will be seniors Virginia Bennett and Ruby Reisinger; junior Karen Gerhardt; sophomores Joyce McConkey and Vivian Gifford. Managers will be Bill Puckett and Hugh Graves. Last year's reserve record was 9-7.

The Williamsport Deers will have two top returning veterans from last year's 10-10 season. They are David Myers and Nick Stonerock.

Myers averaged 19.1 points per regular season game last year, good for fourth in the county. Overall he carried an 18.6 average. Stonerock averaged 11.6 points per game for 19th in the county.

Stonerock was the squad's top rebounder with 14 per game. Both boys are juniors and potential All-County players this year. Alan Harper is up from the reserve team, playing only part of last season.

Bill Smith saw limited action on the varsity last year. Reed Anderson played first string varsity two years ago, suffering a broken leg which sidelined him last year.

Eddie Ater relieved departed David Humphrey last year and should play considerable ball this season. Bob Reeser is up from the reserves.

• • •

DEERCREEK suffered unusual loss this past summer. Humphrey, a sure starter averaging eight points a game, moved to Columbus. Kenny Starkey's family moved here, but he is still at Williamsport and coach, Glen Chester, hopes to have him eligible soon.

Two new youths, the Bainbridge brothers, were all set to enter Williamsport High School when forced to move to Clarksburg.

Chester said he is only sure of two starters, Myers and Stonerock. He said all other positions are wide open. Starkey will definitely be a starter if his family moves back to Williamsport.

Last year Deercreek lost four games by a margin of two points. Coach Chester is starting his third year at Deercreek. He is a graduate of Centralia High School and Ohio University.

The Deers' mentor also stated that Don Steinhauser will be pressing the varsity boys for a seat on the squad. He is a freshman and was a stellar center for the junior high team of last year.

The Deercreek varsity roster includes seniors, Smith, 5-11, and Harper, 6-1. Juniors are Stonerock, 6-1; Myers, 6; Ater, 5-8; Anderson, 5-9, and Reeser, 5-8.

• • •

THE RESERVE ROSTER has juniors Dale Minor, 6; Gordon Russell, 5-10, and Tom Barnes, 5-8. The two sophomores are Wayne Atwood, 5-11, and Sam Reeser, 5-6.

Freshmen are Paul Anderson, 5-7; Aaron Harper, 5-6; Marty Noble, 5-6; Douglas Palmer, 5-11; Steinhauser, 5-8; Howard Reeser, 5-8; Paul Young, 5-5; Richard Parrett, 5-5, and Ricky Hooks, 5-7.

Manager is Bruce Willis, a seventh grader. The varsity cheerleaders include Sue Frazier, senior; Linda Hosler, junior; Carol Watts and Karen Trump, 1st attendant to the 1958 Miss Pumpkin Show, sophomores, and Nellie Chester, freshman.

Reserve cheerleaders are Suzi Cook, senior; Linda Sharpe and Peggy Clark, sophomores, and Sue Rihl, freshman.

The Williamsport five averaged 59.8 points per game last year allowing opponents to score an average of 58.9. The Deers scored 1,077 points last season and their opposition tallied 1,061.

Deercreek ranked fifth in offense last season and seventh in defense. They finished sixth in league play.

Jim Brown Still Hard On Records

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Cleveland's Jimmy Brown continues to ride herd on a couple of National Football League records.

The rugged Negro back appears a cinch to snap the mark for yardage gained running in one season, and for most touchdowns scored in one year.

In the first 5 games of the season, the former Syracuse All-America has gained 815 yards, only 127 less than the total which last year won him ground gaining honors in his rookie season. The seasonal record of 1,146 yards was set in 1949, by Steve Van Buren, former great of the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Cleveland ace has scored 14 touchdowns in leading unbeaten Cleveland to 5 straight victories, only four short of the league record for a 10 game schedule and three shy of the 11 and 12 games schedules.

Brown, averaging 163 yards per game, needs only 204 yards in seven games to shatter Van Buren's mark. The Cleveland team is keeping the ball carrying race in the family with Brown's roommate, Bobby Mitchell, running second with 414 yards. Baltimore's Lennie Moore moved from sixth to third with 324 yards. Wilkie Galimore of the Chicago Bears in fourth with 323.

California Outfit Headed For Rose Bowl

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The sweet smell of roses wafts throughout the University of California campus. But the Bear football team wants no part of the aroma.

Talk about the Rose Bowl and you get a stock reply: "We're taking them one at a time."

Maybe they are, but the Bears are in the driver's seat with a 3-0 Pacific Coast Conference record. They're favored to whip Oregon State (3-1) at Corvallis Saturday.

The PCC choice is far from decided. Stanford, sometimes up and sometimes down, is 2-1, Washington State is 3-2, and Southern California is 2-2.

Come Saturday night, after WSC plays UCLA, Southern Cal tangles with Stanford, and Oregon meets Washington (0-3), a new favorite could arise.

California hasn't been to the Rose Bowl since 1951. Their record was 1-9 last year.

The Bears have jelled in 1958. They lost to College of the Pacific and Michigan State, then won four straight.

The difference is Joe Kapp, a master of the split T, and a hard-charging, hard-hitting line.

Kapp, 6-foot-2 quarterback, was named Associated Press Back of the Week Tuesday for his role in Saturday's 23-6 upset of Oregon.

He bucked a yard for one score, engineered two scoring drives, raced 92 yards for another touchdown and intercepted two passes.

Kapp says the difference between 1957 and 1958 is a year's experience under Coach Pete Elliott. He'll tell you his teammates rate the glory.

Jockey Ruled Off Ohio Race Tracks for Life

Despite New Football Rule, Place Kicks Still Preferred

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

College football's new conversion rule has broken a few ties and a few hearts, but all in all, the football is still getting a big kick in the game.

There was a great deal of balyhoo on what effect the rule allowing two points after a touchdown on a successful run or pass would have in breaking ties, whooping up the crowds and putting new interest into the game.

The coaches favored the new rule over the conventional one point for a place or drop kick during the first four games. But after the fifth game, or halfway point, the kick was back in business, and gaining a bit of impetus from its first, and wealthier cousin, the field goal.

National Collegiate Service Bureau statistics show that place kicks have been successful 65 percent on 484 tries after 744 touchdowns.

Army helped this along last Saturday when Harry Walters was sent in to boot two conversions when the Cadets scored twice in the second quarter against Pitt. The game wound up a 14-14 tie when Pitt, missing a pass for two points after its first touchdown, connected after the second on an Ivan Toncic to Dick Haley aerial.

This points up the figures that show 152 successful passes for the PATs after 303 touchdowns, coupled with 172 successful rushes after 401 touchdowns, for a 46.5 percent average for passing and rushing. The combined average is 55.8 on 808 hits on 1,448 TDs.

A year ago, using the one point rule, it was 65.4 percent on 907 PATs after a comparable number of touchdowns.

Ohio State belied the wishes of the rules makers when it chose to play for a tie after scoring in the third quarter against Wisconsin Saturday. The Badgers led 7-6 and Coach Woody Hayes instructed Dave Kilgore to kick for the point. He made it and Hayes has been the subject of mixed feelings on the tie vs. win subject since.

On the other hand, winless Minnesota "went for broke", when it drew within one point of Michigan at 20-19 in the fourth quarter Saturday. The Gophers spurned a tie, went for a two-pointer on a pass and lost when the pass failed.

The field goal, thought to be more of a professional football weapon, also has been a potent college weapon. Fifty-four have been kicked so far, as compared to 32 this time last year, and 64 for the entire season. The record is 82 set in 1952.

It had its effect too. Top-ranked Louisiana State eked out its 10-7 victory over Florida with a field goal last Saturday night, a most recent example.

The national scoring average is a solid 31 points per game, with the supposedly weak-sister East leading with a 36.3 average. This is mainly due to Rutgers (36.4), Syracuse (28.8) and Army (26.8). All are active this week, with Army concentrating on rehabilitating its tired forces, but buoyed with the promise of fulltime service from halfback Pete Dawkins.

Syracuse has ace tackle Don Luciano, out last Saturday with virus pneumonia, back for duty against Pitt.

Northwestern (27.8) leads the Big 10 and Midwest area, but meets Ohio State Saturday. The Wildcats practiced defense Monday with linebacker Jim Andreotti and fullback Mike Stock, on the injury list, expected to be ready.

Colorado (31.2) and Okahoma (30.0) have their battle for the Big 8 title this Saturday, with OU's alternate fullback Dave Rolle out of action with a twisted knee. Soph Bob Cornell took over the first string quarterbacking duties ahead of Bob Boyd and Dave Baker.

Ring Ratings Altered by British Wins

NEW YORK (AP) —The heavyweight rankings underwent a big reshuffling by Ring magazine today as the result of British victories over America's Zora Folley and Willie Pastrano.

Cuba's Nino Valdes moved into the No. 2 contender's spot behind Sweden's Ingemar Johansson. For the first time in years, two Britons, Brian London and Henry Cooper, were listed in the elite top 10. London was ranked seventh, Cooper eighth.

Following up Johansson's one-round knockout of Eddie Machen, London stopped Pastrano, of Miami Beach, Fla., on cuts, and Cooper outpointed Folley, of Chandler, Ariz.

Here's the way the heavyweight top 10 looks behind World Champion Floyd Patterson:

1. Johansson; 2. Valdes; 3. Folley; 4. Pastrano; 5. Machen, Redding, Calif.; 6. light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, San Diego; 7. London; 8. Cooper; 9. Sonny Liston, Philadelphia; 10. Pat McMurtry, Tacoma, Wash.

Roy Harris, of Cut and Shoot, Tex., idle since he was stopped by Patterson; Argentina's Alex Miteff and Canadian champion George Chuvalo of Toronto were ousted.

Don Jordan, to-ranking welterweight contender who earned a title fight by beating Gaspar Ortega of Mexico, for the second straight time, was named "Fighter of the Month" by Ring.

Final Plans Are in Making For Industrial Cage League

Six teams tentatively have agreed to participate in this year's Circleville Industrial basketball league, according to loop manager Marvin Spangler.

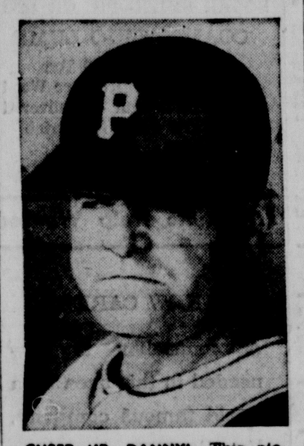

Teams listed are River Oil of Chillicothe, Yingling Hybrids of Amanda, Williamsport, Ashville, New Holland and a team to be formed by Jack Young.

Spangler said a meeting will be conducted at 2 p. m. Sunday in the Pickaway County Fairgrounds coliseum to discuss rules, regulations, entry fees and other important matters. Each participating team is requested to have two representatives present.

Spangler noted that the league is scheduled to start November 6, with games slated to be played on Thursday nights throughout the season at the local coliseum.

THE CARD calls for two rounds of play, with three games scheduled each Thursday.

Local cage officials desiring to work the games are urged to contact Spangler.

Anderson Beagle Takes First Place

Da-Flo-Fury, a Beagle owned by R. B. Anderson, 512 E. Ohio St., earned first place in the American Kennel Club's licensed trial, held several days ago at Cherry Fork.

Anderson was presented with a trophy and cash prize.

The Beagle placed second in similar AKC trials Monday at Slocum. Other competition for the dog this year includes a showing at Zanesville.

Atlanta, Deers Eye Cage Openers

Atlanta and Williamsport open their 1958-59 basketball seasons Saturday night. Perry Twp. meets Clarksburg on its opponent's court. Deercreek faces Jackson in a non-league battle on its home floor.

According to coach James Shaw, Atlanta will floor a small squad in height and in number, but hopes that hustle and determination will bring them more luck this year.

Last year, Perry lost 14 games and won three. They finished last in the county league, losing a final game with Monroe, winless until that contest.

The Perry Raiders will have three returning lettermen and a strong reserve team to fill absent shoes due to graduation.

* * *

THERE ARE only 24 boys enrolled in the Atlanta high school and 20 of them will represent the school on the basketball squad or as managers.

The starting squad all has had previous varsity experience, with three playing regular last year. They will include seniors Darrell Long, 5-9; Paul Morris, 5-10; Jerry Newton, 5-8; Jack Tarbill, 5-9, and Darrell Wisecup, 5-8. Long, Newton and Wisecup are lettermen.

Juniors to play this year, according to Shaw, will include Delbert Bush, 5-8, a newcomer to the team with only junior high experience. He will see considerable action on the reserve team.

Norman Huffman, 5-8, started on the reserve team last year and is fighting for a starting varsity berth. Ronnie Morris, 5-11, saw considerable varsity action last year, though not a letterman. He played good ball with the reserves.

Tommy Oyer, 5-11, is a returning reserve starter and saw action with the varsity last year during the end of the season. Bill Yates, 5-9, hasn't seen too much action, but will probably play on both the varsity and reserve squads this year.

Corwin Donohoe, 5-10, is the only sophomore out for basketball since he is the only boy in the tenth grade. Until he obtains experience, Donohoe will see only reserve action.

Freshmen include Richard Gerhardt, 5-8, a brother to Gerald, who graduated in May. Richard was injured in an accident this summer, but has sufficiently recovered to go the limit on the basketball court.

* * *

MAX JUSTICE, 5-7, is just beginning high school ball this year. Justice played junior high ball and will see reserve action.

Brooks McCoy, 5-6, has a promising shot which should be an asset to the Atlanta reserves. Richard Reisinger, 5-7, played a lot of junior high ball and is shaping up nicely for the reserve squad.

Junior Shelpman, 5-8, is a transfer student from Monroe Twp. After he develops, Shaw expects to play him during the latter part of the season.

Gary Wisecup, 5-5, is the smallest man on the Atlanta team. He is expected to see action on the reserve squad this year, especially as he continues to grow.

Floyd Woolever, 5-7, is counted on for basketball even though chores will take up some of his time.

Last year Atlanta averaged 44.3 points per game, allowing opponents 57.7 points per test. Perry tallied a total of 709 points during the season as the opposition registered 923. They ranked last in points scored per game and sixth defensively.

* * *

CHEERLEADERS for the Atlanta Red Raiders will be seniors Virginia Bennett and Ruby Reisinger; junior Karen Gerhardt; sophomores Joyce McConkey and Vivian Gifford. Managers will be Bill Puckett and Hugh Graves. Last year's reserve record was 9-7.

The Williamsport Deers will have two top returning veterans from last year's 10-10 season. They are David Myers and Nick Stonerock.

Myers averaged 19.1 points per regular season game last year, good for fourth in the county. Overall he carried an 18.6 average. Stonerock averaged 11.6 points per game for 19th in the county.

Stonerock was the squad's top rebounder with 14 per game. Both boys are juniors and potential All-County players this year. Alan Harper is up from the reserve team, playing only part of last season.

Bill Smith saw limited action on the varsity last year. Reed Anderson played first string varsity two years ago, suffering a broken leg which sidelined him last year.

Eddie Ater relieved departed David Humphrey last year and should play considerable ball this season. Bob Reeser is up from the reserves.

* * *

DEERCREEK suffered unusual loss this past summer. Humphrey, a sure starter averaging eight points a game, moved to Columbus. Kenny Starkey's family moved here, but he is still at Williamsport and coach, Glen Chester, hopes to have him eligible soon.

Two new youths, the Bainbridge brothers, were all set to enter Williamsport High School when forced to move to Clarksburg.

Chester said he is only sure of two starters, Myers and Stonerock. He said all other positions are wide open. Starkey will definitely be a starter if his family moves back to Williamsport.

Last year Deercreek lost four games by a margin of two points. Coach Chester is starting his third year at Deercreek. He is a graduate of Centralia High School and Ohio University.

The Deers' mentor also stated that Don Steinhauser will be pressing the varsity boys for a seat on the squad. He is a freshman and was a stellar center for the junior high team of last year.

The Deercreek varsity roster includes seniors, Smith, 5-11, and Harper, 6-1. Juniors are Stonerock, 6-1; Myers, 6; Ater, 5-8; Anderson, 5-9, and Reeser, 5-8.

THE RESERVE ROSTER has juniors Dale Minor, 6; Gordon Russell, 5-10, and Tom Barnes, 5-8. The two sophomores are Wayne Atwood, 5-11, and Sam Reeser, 5-6.

Freshmen are Paul Anderson, 5-7; Aaron Harper, 5-6; Marty Noble, 5-6; Douglas Palmer, 5-11; Steinhauser, 5-8; Howard Reeser, 5-8; Paul Young, 5-5; Richard Parrett, 5-5, and Ricky Hooks, 5-7.

Manager is Bruce Willis, a seventh grader. The varsity cheerleaders include Sue Frazier, senior; Linda Hosler, junior; Carol Watts and Karen Trump, 1st attendant to the 1958 Miss Pumpkin Show, sophomores, and Nellie Chester, freshman.

Reserve cheerleaders are Suzi Cook, senior; Linda Sharpe and Peggy Clark, sophomores, and Sue Rihl, freshman.

The Williamsport five averaged 59.8 points per game last year allowing opponents to score an average of 58.9. The Deers scored 1,077 points last season and their opposition tallied 1,061.

Deercreek ranked fifth in offense last season and seventh in defense. They finished sixth in league play.

Jim Brown Still Hard On Records

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Cleveland's Jimmy Brown continues to ride herd on a couple of National Football League records.

The rugged Negro back appears a cinch to snap the mark for yardage gained running in one season, and for most touchdowns scored in one year.

In the first 5 games of the season, the former Syracuse All-America has gained 815 yards, only 127 less than the total which last year won him ground gaining honors in his rookie season. The seasonal record of 1,146 yards was set in 1949, by Steve Van Buren, former great of the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Cleveland ace has scored 14 touchdowns in leading unbeaten Cleveland to 5 straight victories, only four short of the league record for a 10 game schedule and three shy of the 11 and 12 games schedules.

Brown, averaging 163 yards per game, needs only 204 yards in seven games to shatter Van Buren's mark. The Cleveland team is keeping the ball carrying race in the family with Brown's roommate, Bobby Mitchell, running second with 414 yards. Baltimore's Lennie Moore moved from sixth to third with 324 yards. Wilkie Galimore of the Chicago Bears in fourth with 323.

California Outfit Headed For Rose Bowl

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The sweet smell of roses wafts throughout the University of California campus. But the Bear football team wants no part of the aroma.

Talk about the Rose Bowl and you get a stock reply: "We're taking them one at a time."

Maybe they are, but the Bears are in the driver's seat with a 3-0 Pacific Coast Conference record. They're favored to whip Oregon State (3-1) at Corvallis Saturday.

The PCC choice is far from decided. Stanford, sometimes up and sometimes down, is 2-1, Washington State is 3-2, and Southern California is 2-2.

Come Saturday night, after WSC plays UCLA, Southern Cal tangles with Stanford, and Oregon meets Washington (0-3), a new favorite could arise.

California hasn't been to the Rose Bowl since 1951. Their record was 1-9 last year.

The Bears have jelled in 1958. They lost to College of the Pacific and Michigan State, then won four straight.

The difference is Joe Kapp, a master of the split T, and a hard-charging, hard-hitting line.

Kapp, 6-foot-2 quarterback, was named Associated Press Back of the Week Tuesday for his role in Saturday's 23-6 upset of Oregon.

He bucked a yard for one score, engineered two scoring drives, raced 92 yards for another touchdown and intercepted two passes.

Jockey Ruled Off Ohio Race Tracks for Life

Despite New Football Rule, Place Kicks Still Preferred

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

College football's new conversion rule has broken a few ties and a few hearts, but all in all, the football is still getting a big kick in the game.

There was a great deal of ballyhoo on what effect the rule allowing two points after a touchdown on a successful run or pass would have in breaking ties, whooping up the crowds and putting new interest into the game.

The coaches favored the new rule over the conventional one point for a place or drop kick during the first four games. But after the fifth game, or halfway point, the kick was back in business, and gaining a bit of impetus from its first, and wealthier cousin, the field goal.

National Collegiate Service Bureau statistics show that place kicks have been successful 65 percent on 484 tries after 744 touchdowns.

Army helped this along last Saturday when Harry Walters was sent in to boot two conversions when the Cadets scored twice in the second quarter against Pitt. The game wound up a 14-14 tie when Pitt, missing a pass for two points after its first touchdown, connected after the second on an Ivan Toncic to Dick Haley aerial.

This points up the figures that show 152 successful passes for the PATs after 303 touchdowns, coupled with 172 successful rushes after 401 touchdowns, for a 46.5 percent average for passing and rushing. The combined average is 55.8 on 808 hits on 1,448 TDs.

A year ago, using the one point rule, it was 65.4 percent on 907 PATs after a comparable number of touchdowns.

Ohio State belied the wishes of the rules makers when it chose to play for a tie after scoring in the third quarter against Wisconsin Saturday. The Badgers led 7-6 and Coach Woody Hayes instructed Dave Kilgore to kick for the point. He made it and Hayes has been the subject of mixed feelings on the tie vs. win subject since.

On the other hand, winless Minnesota "went for broke", when it drew within one point of Michigan at 20-19 in the fourth quarter Saturday. The Gophers spurned a tie, went for a two-pointer on a pass and lost when the pass failed.

The field goal, thought to be more of a professional football weapon, also has been a potent college weapon. Fifty-four have been kicked so far, as compared to 32 this time last year, and 64 for the entire season. The record is 82 set in 1952.

It had its effect too. Top-ranked Louisiana State eked out its 10-7 victory over Florida with a field goal last Saturday night, a most recent example.

The national scoring average is a solid 31 points per game, with the supposedly weak-sister East leading with a 36.3 average. This is mainly due to Rutgers (36.4), Syracuse (28.8) and Army (26.8). All are active this week, with Army concentrating on rehabilitating its tired forces, but buoyed with the promise of fulltime service from halfback Pete Dawkins.

Syracuse has ace tackle Don Luciano, out last Saturday with virus pneumonia, back for duty against Pitt.

Northwestern (27.8) leads the Big 10 and Midwest area, but meets Ohio State Saturday. The Wildcats practiced defense Monday with linebacker Jim Andreotti and fullback Mike Stock, on the injury list, expected to be ready.

Colorado (31.2) and Okahoma (30.0) have their battle for the Big 8 title this Saturday, with OU's alternate fullback Dave Rolle out of action with a twisted knee. Soph Bob Cornell took over the first string quarterbacking duties ahead of Bob Boyd and Dave Baker.

Ring Ratings Altered by British Wins

NEW YORK (AP) —The heavyweight rankings underwent a big reshuffling by Ring magazine today as the result of British victories over America's Zora Folley and Willie Pastrano.

Cuba's Nino Valdes moved into the No. 2 contender's spot behind Sweden's Ingemar Johansson. For the first time in years, two Britons, Brian London and Henry Cooper, were listed in the elite top 10. London was ranked seventh, Cooper eighth.

Following up Johansson's one-round knockout of Eddie Machen, London stopped Pastrano, of Miami Beach, Fla., on cuts, and Cooper outpointed Folley, of Chandler, Ariz.

Here's the way the heavyweight top 10 looks behind World Champion Floyd Patterson:

1. Johansson; 2. Valdes; 3. Folley; 4. Pastrano; 5. Machen, Redding, Calif.; 6. light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, San Diego; 7. London; 8. Cooper; 9. Sonny Liston, Philadelphia; 10. Pat McMurtry, Tacoma, Wash.

Roy Harris, of Cut and Shoot, Tex., idle since he was stopped by Patterson; Argentina's Alex Miteff and Canadian champion George Chuvalo of Toronto were ousted.

Don Jordan, to-ranking welterweight contender who earned a title fight by beating Gaspar Ortega of Mexico, for the second straight time, was named "Fighter of the Month" by Ring.

Final Plans Are in Making For Industrial Cage League

Six teams tentatively have agreed to participate in this year's Circleville Industrial basketball league, according to loop manager Marvin Spangler.

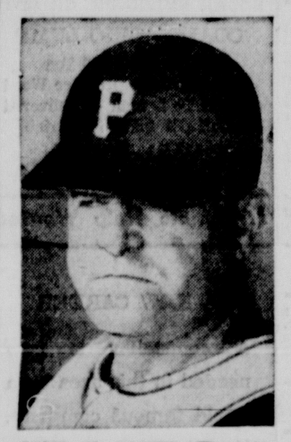

Teams listed are River Oil of Chillicothe, Yingling Hybrids of Amanda, Williamsport, Ashville, New Holland and a team to be formed by Jack Young.

Spangler said a meeting will be conducted at 2 p. m. Sunday in the Pickaway County Fairgrounds coliseum to discuss rules, regulations, entry fees and other important matters. Each participating team is requested to have two representatives present.

Spangler noted that the league is scheduled to start November 6, with games slated to be played on Thursday nights throughout the season at the local coliseum.

THE CARD calls for two rounds of play, with three games scheduled each Thursday.

Local cage officials desiring to work the games are urged to contact Spangler.

Anderson Beagle Takes First Place

Da-Flo-Fury, a Beagle owned by R. B. Anderson, 512 E. Ohio St., earned first place in the American Kennel Club's licensed trial, held several days ago at Cherry Fork.

Anderson was presented with a trophy and cash prize.

Browns Attracting Big Size Gallery

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns' exciting offense is winning more than games this year—it's winning customers.

Attendance at next Sunday's game here with the New York Giants—barring a bad break in weather—is expected to exceed 60,000

If it does, it will be the third time in three home games that the Browns have drawn more than 60,000.

In eight previous seasons in the National Football League, Cleveland has had only three larger crowds in the stadium for a regular-schedule game.

2 Michigan Star Athletes Suspended in Gambing Case

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The University of Michigan's football fullback and basketball captain have been suspended from their teams in connection with football gambling on campus.

Police issued warrants for the arrest Tuesday of fullback Tony Rio and basketball star Jack Lewis. Warrants also were issued against five nonathlete students.

All seven will be arraigned today on charges of engaging in an illegal occupation in connection with handling football spot cards. All were released without bond.

Rio and Lewis, both 21 and from Chicago, share an apartment near the university's campus.

"We are removing from their respective athletic squads both athletes involved in these charges until their cases are decided," said Michigan Athletic Director Fritz Crisler.

"The coaches know all about it," said Rio. "I told them what part I had in it—which was nothing."

"The coaches have faith in me and will wait to see what happens," he said. "I think the publicity will hurt my football. No matter what happens, people will think I'm wrong. They always take a negative attitude toward bad publicity."

Lewis was unavailable for comment.

Other students arrested were: Nick E. Mitea, 21, Ecorse, Mich.; Durwood J. Colins, 22, Houstin, Tex.; John A. Miller, 19, Utica, Mich.; Michael G. Dodgson, 21, Grand Rapids, Mich.; and Carl M. Riseman, 21, Detroit, associate sports editor of the campus newspaper, the Michigan Daily.

No comment was available from the five nonathletes.

The charges of the misdemeanor carry a maximum penalty of 90 days in jail and a fine of $100 on conviction.

Detective Lt. George Stauch estimated the weekly take from the pool cards ranged in the neighborhood of $10,000. Campus sources said, however, that the weekly take was considerably less.

Bill Gundy, Dartmouth quarterback, won punting honors in the Ivy League last fall. He averaged 41.1 yards on 23 punts.

Dartmouth has 20 former high school captains on its 1958 football squad.

Internationals Lead Bike Race

CLEVELAND (AP)—The International team gained the lead Tuesday night in the nine-day bike race here, but not by much.

Close behind were Denmark and Germany. And the United States' team was still in contention.

Only two laps separate those four teams.

John Tressider of Australia and Ward Van Develde of Belgium pedalled the internationals into the lead in a furious sprint which ended tonight's action.

The Germans were ahead early in the evening only to fall behind in the final dashes and wind up third.

The Danes, Monday night's leaders, were slightly off the pace.

The event ends Sunday.

Ford's Lifetime Hurling Hailed

NEW YORK (AP) — Although Whitey Ford never has won 20 games in any of his seven seasons with the New York Yankees, his lifetime won and lost percentage is the highest among active major league pitchers.

The short southpaw, just turned 30, has won 105 and lost only 40 for a .724 percentage, figures compiled by The Associated Press disclosed today. The leaders are based on pitchers with 60 or more decisions.

Sal Maglie, now with the St. Louis Cardinals, is closest to Ford. The 41-year-old "Barber," who began his big league career in 1945, boasts a .659 percentage. He has won 118 and lost 61.

German Is Rated Underdog in Bout

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Franz Szuzina of Germany rates as the underdog tonight in his 10-round middleweight fight with Rory Calhoun of White Plains.

But that's the way the rugged, 29-year-old German likes it. He has a reputation as a spoiler. He was the underdog when he beat Randy Sandy a few weeks back and also when he decisioned Virgil Akins, the current welterweight champion, in St. Louis last year.

Rory has won four of his five fights this year. Calhoun, ranked 10th as a middleweight, hopes to go on from victory tonight to fight the winner of next month's meeting between Joey Giardello and Spider Webb.

Browns Attracting Big Size Gallery

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns' exciting offense is winning more than games this year—it's winning customers.

Attendance at next Sunday's game here with the New York Giants—barring a bad break in weather—is expected to exceed 60,000.

If it does, it will be the third time in three home games that the Browns have drawn more than 60,000.

In eight previous seasons in the National Football League, Cleveland has had only three larger crowds in the stadium for a regular-schedule game.

2 Michigan Star Athletes Suspended in Gambing Case

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The University of Michigan's football fullback and basketball captain have been suspended from their teams in connection with football gambling on campus.

Police issued warrants for the arrest Tuesday of fullback Tony Rio and basketball star Jack Lewis. Warrants also were issued against five nonathlete students.

All seven will be arraigned today on charges of engaging in an illegal occupation in connection with handling football spot cards. All were released without bond.

Rio and Lewis, both 21 and from Chicago, share an apartment near the university's campus.

"We are removing from their respective athletic squads both athletes involved in these charges until their cases are decided," said Michigan Athletic Director Fritz Crisler.

"The coaches know all about it," said Rio. "I told them what part I had in it—which was nothing."

"The coaches have faith in me and will wait to see what happens," he said. "I think the publicity will hurt my football. No matter what happens, people will think I'm wrong. They always take a negative attitude toward bad publicity."

Lewis was unavailable for comment.

Other students arrested were: Nick E. Mitea, 21, Ecorse, Mich.; Durwood J. Colins, 22, Houstin, Tex.; John A. Miller, 19, Utica, Mich.; Michael G. Dodgson, 21, Grand Rapids, Mich.; and Carl M. Riseman, 21, Detroit, associate sports editor of the campus newspaper, the Michigan Daily.

No comment was available from the five nonathletes.

The charges of the misdemeanor carry a maximum penalty of 90 days in jail and a fine of $100 on conviction.

Detective Lt. George Stauch estimated the weekly take from the pool cards ranged in the neighborhood of $10,000. Campus sources said, however, that the weekly take was considerably less.

Bill Gundy, Dartmouth quarterback, won punting honors in the Ivy League last fall. He averaged 41.1 yards on 23 punts.

Dartmouth has 20 former high school captains on its 1958 football squad.

Internationals Lead Bike Race

CLEVELAND (AP)—The International team gained the lead Tuesday night in the nine-day bike race here, but not by much.

Close behind were Denmark and Germany. And the United States' team was still in contention.

Only two laps separate those four teams.

John Tressider of Australia and Ward Van Develde of Belgium pedalled the internationals into the lead in a furious sprint which ended tonight's action.

The Germans were ahead early in the evening only to fall behind in the final dashes and wind up third.

The Danes, Monday night's leaders, were slightly off the pace.

The event ends Sunday.

Ford's Lifetime Hurling Hailed

NEW YORK (AP) — Although Whitey Ford never has won 20 games in any of his seven seasons with the New York Yankees, his lifetime won and lost percentage is the highest among active major league pitchers.

The short southpaw, just turned 30, has won 105 and lost only 40 for a .724 percentage, figures compiled by The Associated Press disclosed today. The leaders are based on pitchers with 60 or more decisions.

Sal Maglie, now with the St. Louis Cardinals, is closest to Ford. The 41-year-old "Barber," who began his big league career in 1945, boasts a .659 percentage. He has won 118 and lost 61.

German Is Rated Underdog in Bout

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Franz Szuzina of Germany rates as the underdog tonight in his 10-round middleweight fight with Rory Calhoun of White Plains.

But that's the way the rugged, 29-year-old German likes it. He has a reputation as a spoiler. He was the underdog when he beat Randy Sandy a few weeks back and also when he decisioned Virgil Akins, the current welterweight champion, in St. Louis last year.

Rory has won four of his five fights this year. Calhoun, ranked 10th as a middleweight, hopes to go on from victory tonight to fight the winner of next month's meeting between Joey Giardello and Spider Webb.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My problem may not be a life-and-death matter to others, but it seems to me to involve the future of my daughter. She is 16, the middle child of our three children.

How can you get a girl of that age to realize that she is making her future right now? That the use of swear words, and dirty jokes, and riding around town at night, makes for a shoddy present and a shoddy future? That haphazard study, resultng in near-failing grades, is stupid?

How can you get her to see that slipping around to meet boys who also go in for this sort of thing is dangerous? No, she isn't criminal; but she has these bad habits.

Jean has average looks, nice clothes and a nice home. Her parents are ordinary people, full of faults; but she has never seen me, her mother, practice the above habits.

She has been taken to Sunday School since she was able to talk; and now slips away to ride around during that time.

Do you have any suggestions? What good books are there, for her or for me?

D.S.

DEAR D.S.: When a girl, 16, has her parents hanging on the ropes, as it were, it is because the parents lack the qualities of leadership. For some reason they are failing to command the respect of the adolescent rebel—on the score of intelligence, moral authority and tough common sense.

Possible the parents' failure has to do with trying to cajole, debate or argue with the adolescent on a co-equality basis—instead of behaving, in the leader role, like a seasoned general sending green troops through territory that is new to them.

The adolescent responds to certitude, competence and calm, in the character of those who have charge over him. And parents with governing ability accept the burdens of authority in that spirit. They matter of factly run the show and, judiciously, execute decisions that safeguard the children's welfare, regardless of weather the children approve or agree with their logic. The parents know it is more important to be right than to be popular, if a choice must be made, in keeping the kids in line.

It is this kind of morale, in the administrative bracket, that mark the good prep school for boys, or the well-run boarding school for girls. And parents who can't govern their children at home, often have to pass the buck to a first class private school, to safeguard the children's character formation when they reach adolescence. Maybe this is the only corrective of your daughter's wrong bias.

M.H.

Building Trade Shows Upswing With Autumn

Construction Pacts Running 26 Pct. Higher Than in '57

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The health of the building industry — one of the economy's best aids during the recession — seems to be improving today with the autumn tang of the recovery.

Contracts for future construction awarded in September were 26 per cent higher in dollar volume than in the like 1957 month, F.W. Dodge Corp. reports today. And Dun & Bradstreet, using another measuring stick, says building permits in 217 cities last month were the highest for any September on record.

Federal agencies, using still another, report housing starts last month were at an annual rate of 1,200,000, leading the F.W. Dodge construction specialists to predict that the total for the year will be about 1,160,000, or 10 per cent above a year ago.

Two clouds mar the prospect. One is the fear that the already tightening home mortgage market may discourage future home builders. The other is that industrial building still trails last year and hopes for an early reversal of this trend are dim at best.

For the first nine months of the year, F.W. Dodge reports contracts for nonresidential building 3 per cent behind 1957. But heavy engineering was up 21 per cent. The impressive gains in the latter field were made by public works and the utilities.

Manufacturing construction was off both because the recession cut demand for goods and because many companies had built more in the postwar period than they now have demand to keep in full use.

The National Industrial Conference Board in a study of the ratio of fixed capital — structures and equipment — to product demand reports that at the start of the year 11 manufacturing groups had excess capacity.

It lists: motor vehicles and equipment; electrical machinery; fabricated metal products; chemicals and allied products; tobacco products; rubber products; lumber and its products; printing and publishing; stone, clay and glass products; primary metals; and machinery other than electrical.

When the recovery has gone far enough to take up this slack, industry again will be building and expanding, giving the economy the big boost that helped to spark the last boom.

Predictions as to when this will occur range from the second half of next year to the early 1960s.

Boy Bandit Shoots Woman 'Like They Do It on TV'

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. (AP) — A 10-year-old boy verbally admitted to police today he shot a 32-year-old housewife when she refused to drop her purse.

Bill Maraggos, chief investigator for the Arapahoe County sheriff's office, identified the boy as Kerry Dale Casey, son of Charles Wade Casey. Maraggos said the boy admitted the shooting after he was brought to the county jail.

Mrs. Shirley Orlofsky was shot in front of her home in this Denver suburb Tuesday evening. She was in fair condition with a small-caliber bullet wound in the left shoulder.

Maraggos said the boy, roused out of a sound sleep, first denied the shooting but later orally admitted it after a .22-caliber revolver, believed used by the boy, and several other guns were found in the basement of the Casey home.

Maraggos quoted the boy as saying "I didn't mean to hurt her." He said he was "doing it like they do on the TV."

No charges were filed.

Mrs. Orlofsky said the boy approached her from across the street when she left a bus. "Drop your purse or I'll shoot you," he ordered. "I'm not kidding. I just shot a guy and dropped him."

"I laughed at him at first," Mrs. Orlofsky said.

Mrs. Orlovsky said she jokingly asked the boy where the shooting took place. He jerked his thumb vaguely over his shoulder.

When the blond boy again ordered her to drop the purse. Mrs. Orlofsky said, she turned and walked toward her home. After once pulling the trigger on an apparent misfire, she said, the youngster fired.

The bullet struck her just under the shoulder blade. She staggered into the house and collapsed.

Mrs. Orlofsky is the mother of three children. Her husband is a salesman for a Denver radio station.

Maraggos said police went to the Casey home to check out an anonymous phone tip.

"He showed no remorse," said Maraggos. "He acts more like a 17-year-old."

The Madison Twp. Parent Teachers Assn. will hold a Halloween Party at 8 p. m. Friday. All children, parents and friends are invited to attend.

A prize will be given to the Masqueraders. Judging will decide the ugliest, prettiest, funniest and hardest to guess. Refreshments will be served later in the evening.

Room mothers for the year include Mrs. Rodney Ward, first grade; Mrs. Clark Neff, second; Mrs. Lester Fridley, third; Mrs. Alvin Stebelton, fourth; Mrs. Ernest Lahrmer, fifth, and Mrs. Lee Sherman, sixth.

KILLER UNCONCERNED — This unconcerned smile is presented in Milwaukee, Wis., by Roy Victor Olson, 23, as he tells police about two knife killings. He admits knifing to death TV announcer Ogden Miles in Sacramento, Calif., Sept 30, and John Weiler in a Seattle, Wash., apartment June 23. Olson, arrested for carrying a gun, said, "I don't know why I killed these men" and then added, "I'm not sorry, either."

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My problem may not be a life-and-death matter to others, but it seems to me to involve the future of my daughter. She is 16, the middle child of our three children.

How can you get a girl of that age to realize that she is making her future right now? That the use of swear words, and dirty jokes, and riding around town at night, makes for a shoddy present and a shoddy future? That haphazard study, resulting in near-failing grades, is stupid?

How can you get her to see that slipping around to meet boys who also go in for this sort of thing is dangerous? No, she isn't criminal; but she has these bad habits.

Jean has average looks, nice clothes and a nice home. Her parents are ordinary people, full of faults; but she has never seen me, her mother, practice the above habits.

She has been taken to Sunday School since she was able to talk; and now slips away to ride around during that time.

Do you have any suggestions? What good books are there, for her or for me?

D.S.

DEAR D.S.: When a girl, 16, has her parents hanging on the ropes, as it were, it is because the parents lack the qualities of leadership. For some reason they are failing to command the respect of the adolescent rebel—on the score of intelligence, moral authority and tough common sense.

Possible the parents' failure has to do with trying to cajole, debate or argue with the adolescent on a co-equality basis—instead of behaving, in the leader role, like a seasoned general sending green troops through territory that is new to them.

The adolescent responds to certitude, competence and calm, in the character of those who have charge over him. And parents with governing ability accept the burdens of authority in that spirit. They matter of factly run the show and, judiciously, execute decisions that safeguard the children's welfare, regardless of weather the children approve or agree with their logic. The parents know it is more important to be right than to be popular, if a choice must be made, in keeping the kids in line.

It is this kind of morale, in the administrative bracket, that mark the good prep school for boys, or the well-run boarding school for girls. And parents who can't govern their children at home, often have to pass the buck to a first class private school, to safeguard the children's character formation when they reach adolescence. Maybe this is the only corrective of your daughter's wrong bias.
